NORWAY VICINITY

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Willey and daughter, Eleanor, of Mechanic Falls, were recent guests of Mrs. Harry Kimball.

The Grand Orient will hold another session in Red Men's Hall, Mechanic Falls, Wednesday, May 19, commencing at 8 p. m., daylight saving. The last gathering was one of the real times and many candidates are booked for the next meeting. There are many members in this locality.

Frank H. Hobbs, proprietor of Hobbs Pool Room: "I want to install an employment agency for so many patrons are looking for work. People wanting helpers might draw from my collection."

The base ball diamond on the fair grounds has been "skinned" and put into fine class shape by the high school nine.

Ladies' night will be observed by Pennesseewassee Lodge, K. of P., on Wednesday evening, May 19. Supper at 7 o'clock will be followed by an entertainment and dancing. During the evening Dr. Fred E. Drake will be presented a jewel in honor of a membership covering fifty years.

A concrete foundation is being laid on the H. Walter Brown lot in Pine Grove cemetery for a granite mausoleum soon to be erected there.

The orchestra of five pieces will play for the evening dance at Hobson's pavilion at North Waterford, Friday night, May 14th. This pavilion is the most up-to-date one near here, with the best floor, stage decorated with fir and flowers.

A car of calcium chloride has been distributed to points in the village handy for spreading when dust time has reached the highways.

There will be a May ball at North Lovell grange hall, Saturday, May 15th, music by Harley True's orchestra. There will be plenty of contra dances.

A story of a newspaper printed in Norway, April 2, 1833 will soon appear. It was called the Politician, which went over to Horatio King and was merged with the Oxford Democrat. Watch for it. It will soon appear.

The Norway Women's Club will hold their next meeting Tuesday afternoon, May 18 at 3 o'clock at Community Hall. Mrs. J. S. Sturtevant of Dixfield, chairman of the division of Child Welfare and Mothercraft, will be present and address the ladies. All ladies of the community and mothers especially who have children are invited to come and hear Mrs. Sturtevant. Final arrangements will be made at this meeting for attending the Oxford County Union at Bethel, May 19. This will be the last meeting of the club until October and the last opportunity to enroll as a charter member as the charter will be closed after this meeting.

Miss Doris Shepard and Miss Elizabeth Bartlett entertained the S. and M. Club Thursday evening at Miss Shepard's home on Crockett Ridge. A fine buffet lunch was served in the dining room. Each punch cup had a card with a name on it and on Miss Elizabeth Bartlett's was a large card directing her to look under the table, which she did and found an electric waffle iron, a shower gift from the members of the club in honor of her approaching marriage to Charles Cummings. Miss Bartlett was very much surprised. The invited guests to the party were Mrs. Philip Noble, Miss Adeline DeCoster, Mrs. Leroy Luce and Mrs. Ned Shepard. All the members of the club were present and among them were Miss Beatrice Ford, Miss Hazel Bicknell, Mrs. Perley May, Mrs. Ava Wight, Mrs. Edward Luck, Miss Winona Flanders, Miss Pauline Noble, Mrs. Paul Hosmer, Mrs. Donald Andrews, Mrs. Harry Turtellott, Mrs. Elmer Packard, Mrs. Scott Killborn, Mrs. Ralph Andrews, Miss Mildred Curtis and the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. McKeen of East Oxford have been visiting their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford P. Lake.

Mount Hope Rebekah lodge met in regular session at the I. O. O. F. hall Friday evening. Previous to the meeting an excellent supper was served of cold meats, salads, baked beans, hot rolls and pastries. The work was exemplified on a class of three candidates in a most creditable manner. Mrs Stimson of Portland, vice president of the Rebekah Assembly, visited the lodge officially and complimented the order on their work. Mrs. Lelia Starbird of South Paris, district deputy, was also a visitor. Excellent music was furnished by an orchestra of four pieces, Herbert Hosmer, violin; Miss Ruth Libby, pianist. Remarks were made by the visitors, Mrs. Stimson and Mrs. Starbird.

Miss Bell Chase and Miss Clara Shepard of Lewiston, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bumps of Auburn were week end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. John Shepard.

Heard on the street: "They have nice ice cream in there, but the girls have got so many "fellers" hanging around 'em, guess we won't bother them tonight. We'll get some ice cream at ——— before we get home."

A pair of spectacles were found by Robley Morrison, on Water Street, Tuesday morning, and await an owner at this office.

Clifford Frost is building a front porch on his home and improving the yard.

Dr. A. Leon Sikkenga of London, England, is on a sight-seeing trip on the continent and has sent us some interesting postal cards. He also remembered the Weeries.

"And Pulitzer Went Blind for Want of Good Lighting," is the title of a good story by Don C. Seitz. It appeared in the May number of "Light," published by the National Lamp Works of the General Electric Co. It is worth reading and our attention was called to it by Howard Young, who is a constant reader of that journal.

Wilder Encampment No. 21, I. O. O. F. will work the Royal Purple Degree on three candidates, Friday evening, May 14. Refreshments after work.

The C. B. Cummings & Sons Co. mill at the head of Man street is in operation and started on a long run sawing long lumber. A large quantity of logs are piled on the shore of the mill pond to be worked up.

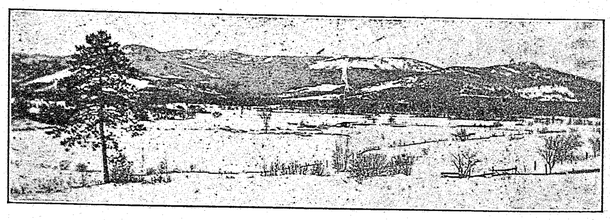
Reg. Dinsmore and wife are on the way from Florida here. They are expected to arrive at any time. They left St. Petersburg some two weeks ago.

Chas. H. Masury of Danvers, Mass., and a party of guests are expected at Bass Island for Memorial Day vacation. This is an annual event with the boys who cast the fly, pitch horseshoes and just rest.

Fred M. Davis is home for a few days after playing a number of dates at Wilton and Livermore. Next week he will put on his "Natural Talent Act" in the movie theatres at North Livermore, Dixfield and Canton. Future dates include Saco, Biddeford, Yarmouth and Freeport. He is putting on seven specialties that run thirty minutes. An original poem "The Old Horse and the Chauffeur" is getting 'em says Fred. Imitations on the violin are well received.

BETHEL, ONE OF OXFORD COUNTY'S ENTERPRISING TOWNS

FLOURISHING VILLAGE LOCATED AMONG THE OXFORD HILLS AND NOTED AS A SUMMER OR WINTER RESORT



VIEW NEAR BETHEL, SHOWING BLACK, BALD AND BESSE MOUNTAINS

When it is said that Bethel may be classed as the third beautiful town in Maine, it is not an exaggeration nor yet in the minds of some a truth, but to those who live there, year after year, or spend a holiday wandering over her pleasant fields and hills, it is beloved and means truly "the House of God."

As a winter resort, it is excellent; there are many hills suitable for ski-jumping and tobbogganing and it is a snow-shoer's paradise. The woods, cathedral-like, with their burden of glistening snow are full of quiet trails haunted by the rabbit and smaller wood folk.

The White Mountains may be seen in all their glory and Madison, Jefferson and Washington towering in the distance could not fail to delight a true artist's eye.

In summer excellent roads through the central part of the town are teeming with tourists. For those who walk, Paradise Hill is a favorite place; from there one can look out over the town, the winding, tree shaded Androscoggin, and the circle of friendly, colorful mountains. The mountains visible include, in the distance, the "White Mountains," "Spec," "Saddleback," "Will," "Puzzle" and "Goose-eyd," and nearer are "Caribou," "Mains," "Grover," "Black," "Bald," "Besse," "Farwell," "Abram" and "Round" mountains. These, whether viewed with the rising dawn or setting of the sun, furnish the same panorama of rainbow-like varying color.

The Bethel Inn, beautiful in its setting near the Common, amid its green shrubbery bordered lawns and sloping golf course, seems more like a country club for its guests frequently are citizens of the town who enjoy the advantages of golf and tennis there.

Gould Academy with its increasing buildings and campus, located on pleasant Church Street, is one of the attractive spots in the village.

The streets are well shaded with maple and elm trees, which add much to the beauty of the village, with its neat homes and well kept lawns.

The churches in which centers the religious life of the community, are well attended.

Besides the central village, there are the smaller flourishing communities of West Bethel, North Bethel, South Bethel and East Bethel, and Middle Intervale.

Farming is the leading industry and many of the farmers are constantly improving their methods with the aid of the Farm Bureau.

There are four mills, the N. S. Stowell mills, one at Bethel, another at West Bethel, the Morrill and Adams at West Bethel, and the H. F. Thurston at Bethel. These mills furnish a large number of men and women with either full or part time employment, for several operate small farms besides working in the mills a portion of the time.

The stores are attractive and well patronized. There are grocery, dry goods, hardware, grain and general stores, besides several garages.

Bethel village is lighted by the Central Maine Power Company system, which was installed in the fall of 1925.

There are excellent grade schools in Bethel and three new buildings have been built at Bethel, West Bethel, and South Bethel.

Although Bethel keeps its three doctors extremely busy during most of the year, it has a reasonably high health standard.

Bethel may not be a large or extremely bustling town, but with its industries, social and improvement organizations, and educational system, it may be said to be a prosperous, beautiful Oxford County town.

Will Pay By Check

Jellerson-Rafter Shoe Company Successors of the Carroll-Jellerson Shoe Co.

Following in the line of many manufacturers, the Jellerson-Rafter Shoe Company of this town will commence paying off by check on Monday, the 24th. The risk assumed in handling the money in the old way is too great. Many of the city shoe manufacturers have adopted this system. George E. Keith Co., of Brockton recently announced:

"Beginning next week the company will pay all employees by check. Daily stories of payroll hold-ups in New England and other places continue. Loss of money so stolen can be protected by insurance. Death or severe injury of a payroll executive or messenger cannot be so protected, and our company has decided that this hazard should not be longer continued. Hence there will be no more of our payrolls in transport back and forth to the bank, and no more large sums of money on pay days in our office.

"This plan is in effect in hundreds of organizations throughout the country, many of them in New England, and a few of them in Brockton. It is the modern, business-like, safe and best way to handle money. Having made this decision and having frankly given the reasons therefor, I feel sure that our employees will understand and co-operate freely."

State Road Builders Here

The McCormack Brothers of East Providence, R. I., were at the Beals Tavern, recently. They are the contractors of the Paris-Woodstock state road. This is the longest piece of road building in the state for this year. Work on the contract will commence at once. Those here were J. McCormack, John F. McCormack, J. F. Leonardson and H. V. French.

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT FREE FROM DEBT

The committee announced that the last payment has been made on the Soldiers Monument, which will relieve a great burden for those who have struggled so hard to have the monument. The last payments were made possible by the generosity of the G. A. R. Post, who donated to the Corps and the Daughters an equal sum, that they might see the monument all paid for. Interested citizens have helped and the Lewiston Monumental works, from whom the monument was secured, have been very kind and generous, accepting payments as fast as they could be made without interest charges. It has been many years since the Civil War, but the monument is now paid for, and is a credit to the town.

MINSTREL SHOW THREE NIGHTS

The American Legion Minstrels will have three performances May 26-27-28, at Norway Opera House. Mellie Dunham is the feature attraction and so many calls for tickets from surrounding towns is the reason for a third night. Dancing every night after the show with Mellie and his own orchestra for old fashioned dances the first night. A big carnival is on for the third night.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Bartlett and daughter, Miss Elizabeth, attended the Stowell-Milton wedding at Andover, last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Small of Portland are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen.

Miss Mildred Curtis spent the week end at Falmouth Foreside with friends.

Mrs. Herman Bartlett and daughter, Miss Alice, of Watertown, Mass., who have been visiting Mrs. Bartlett's sister, Mrs. Charles L. Bartlett, and other relatives in town, have returned to their home in Watertown.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Smith of Mechanic Falls have been visiting in town. Mr. Smith was at one time in the jewelry business in the old Noyes block.

The Past Noble Grands' Association held their meeting Monday evening with Mrs Elon L. Brown. A covered dish supper was served in charge of Mrs. Linnie Bartlett and Mrs. Grace Bennett.

Elizabeth Crockett Blake Tent, Daughters of Veterans, will hold regular meeting, Friday evening, and the annual roll call will be observed, the members to respond with quotations, etc. A penny lunch will be served in charge of Mrs. Virgie Merrill, Mrs. Laura Thurston and Mrs. Marion Woodworth.

Mrs. Grace Cushman entertained the Jolly Club at her home this being the last meeting of the season. Bridge was in order with three tables at play. The hostess served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rand of Bridgton were visitors at F. M. Davis', Wednesday.

Train Service to be Discussed

At the Meeting of the Norway Board of Trade, Friday Evening

The matter of taking off one train from the Norway branch daily service was a question presented at a conference of Grand Trunk officials, a repesentative of the American Railway Express, and members of the Board of Trade, held at the Municipal Court Rooms, Wednesday forenoon.

A. B. McNaughton, superintendent of the Portland division, explained that to make important connections on the summer schedule at Montreal and Portland, it would be necessary to discontinue on the branch the forenoon train from Portland, connections for passengers, express and mail to be made at South Paris. Changes would not become effective until June 26.

The matter will be brought up at the Board of Trade meeting, to be held at the Grange Hall, Friday evening, May 14. All members not having made banquet reservations should notify the secretary, Forrest Longley, before Friday morning, if possible. Citizens not members will be welcomed to the meeting after 7:30.

Veranda Club

Veranda Club met with Mrs. Ida Gammon, Thursday evening with a good attendance as several of the members had recovered from the prevailing bad cold and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed. After the business meeting the hostess served a nice lunch.

The next meeting will be with Clara Jordan, Thursday evening, May 20.

The benefit card party was held at the home of the president, Clara Ames, Saturday evening, May 8, with two tables at play at the usual hour. The hostess invited those present to the dining room where a very attractive lunch was served. The next party will be with Miss Clara Jordan this Saturday evening, May 15.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. Retta Jackson, Wednesday afternoon with 18 present. Officers elected for the coming year:

President—Mrs. Nettie Severs.
Sec.—Mrs. Carrie Philbrook.
Treas.—Mrs. Harriett Brown.
1st Vice—Mrs. Maud Decoster.
2nd Vice—Mrs. Bernice Greenlaw.
3rd Vice—Mrs. Elizabeth Joslin.
4th Vice—Mrs. Minnie Aldrich.
5th Vice—Mrs. Bella Fletcher.

Next meeting field day date and place announced later. Annual conference at South Paris Congregational church, Thursday, May 20, 1926. Roll call response, quotations of choice. The past year's attendance has been very good and the meetings made interesting and profitable; we are still hoping for new members.

A rising vote of thanks was given our retiring president, Mrs. Maude DeCoster, and a hand shake for the new president closed with benediction. Ice cream and cake served by the hostess assisted by members.

PROF. SIDNEY I. SMITH DEAD

Prof. Sidney I. Smith of New Haven, Conn., died May 6 at his home on Whalley Ave., in that city. He was a son of Eliot and Lavina (Howard Barton) Smith of Norway. He was born in this town Feb. 18, 1843.

For many years he was a professor in Yale College. He married in 1882 Eugenia P. Barber of that city. His wife died some years ago. He leaves no children.

A number of Mrs. Persis Walker's friends and neighbors met at her home Tuesday evening in honor of her seventy-seventh birthday. A pleasant social evening was enjoyed and refreshments of ice cream, cake and fudge were served.

Mrs. Carrie Philbrook has purchased the Elwyn S. Russell place at the corner of Whitman St. and Cummings place.

Fred Sanborn of this place has his fishing kit packed and store clothes bought and in waiting for the ice to go. Word came from Ed. Coburn, Middledam, Tuesday, that navigation would not commence before the first of next week as the ice was solid enough to walk on. The road from Andover to South Arm is all right. Coburn drove over it last Monday and walked most of the way to Middledam on the ice. That looks like a whopping fish story, but you know the Captain wouldn't lie. That is what he said over the telephone.

Sixty fishermen were at Thompson's camps at the mouth of Crooked River, Sebago Lake, the first of the week. Among them were Bert Hosmer and Mahlon Bancroft of this town. Not a fish was taken. If caught on one saw them. It was tempestuous and only a few ventured out on the water.

Filling Tanks Must Come Off Main Street

Have you noticed the congestion of traffice caused by filling stations on the main thoroughfare?

It is especially noticeable near the post office and at the Tannery bridge district. To remove these and not the others would be showing unwarranted partiality hence Maine street must be cleared of all filling stations.

Another move is evident. Speeding on Main street must be stopped. No vehicle should move faster than the speed permitted by law. Reckless or unlawful driving must be stopped. The sooner the better.

We trust the officers will not be foolish in this matter but the public expect the laws to be impartially enforced and travel on the street made reasonably safe. See that your lights are trimmed and burning and save annoyance and court expense.

HOME FROM SUNNY SOUTH

Stanley Walker and Elmer Buck have returned from Florida, arriving last Monday. Have been some two weeks on the road. Stopped a couple days or so in New York City looking it over as guests of Mr. Vivian.

The last day's run was from that city to the parental dooryard at Norway Lake. Time taken 7 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. Getting too warm now in Orlando, Fla., for them.

Harry Rust Relief Corps held regular meeting Tuesday evening and further plans were made for Memorial Day. Sunday morning the Post and Corps and all other of the allied and Patriotic organizations will attend church at the Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. R. N Pearson delivering the Memorial sermon. All organizations will meet at Pythian Hall at 10:15 o'clock.

Miss Mildred J. Holmes has purchased a new Ford, a sport model.

Dorothy Anderson spent the week end at the home of Edna French at North Norway.

MELLIE-GRAMS

LOOKING TOWARD HOME

Plenty of Old Time Fiddlers—All Good, Some More Fortnate Than Others

At Syracuse, N. Y., Mellie writes as follows:

Same old story. Both well and the show going all right. We leave here Saturday night, (May 8) for Lowell, stay there a week, then hit the iron for Portland, finish our season and beat our way home.

I read in the "Advertiser" that the "Wearies" were to still have a place to gather. Right, that is as it should be. That is an institution that should be kept up, a place where man can meet on a level footing and tell how big the fish was that he did not catch and feel all right to do so.

"Baldy" of the "Post" called on us today. We were gled to see him. We hope to meet some Norway people when we play Portland and I can tell you they will look good to the person who writes this.

We have seen one familiar face here, Leon Longley's daughter, Doris.

Only two more weeks and home and as soon as we can "Ketchum" and the spring at the foot of the hill. I have seen quite a number of fiddlers lately. They are like the whiskey the Maine guide was speaking of, "All good, but some is better than others."

Lots of old fiddles. Mr. Strad. must have been an awfully hard working man to have made so many. You have most likely heard fisherman say that mosquitoes and black flies were thicker than fiddlers in —some place or other—I can understand now where they all come from. Hope to see you before many days. Regards to all. Mellie and Gram.

KNOWN THROUGHOUT HEMISPHERE

The Bridgton News expressed editorial disgust when the Governor of the State assisted in the Dunham publicity send-off, now has this to say:

"The Boston Globe is out with a fine tooth comb trying to find the fellow who has produced the most effective publicity stunt of the present century. Somebody has suggested "Abd-el Krim" the Riffian war chief. We suggest the fellow who exploited Mellie Dunham, of Norway—if it is possible to find out just who that was. Most of us do not even know who "Abd" was or what he did but everybody in this hemisphere must know by this time who Mellie Dunham is and what he does."

Mellie Dunham's Ten Thousand

Boston Transcript Editorial, May 10

Mellie Dunham, who is Mellie Dunham? So swiftly do events move in a world of polar flights and general strikes that for a moment question arises as to the identity of the man whose name appears in the headlines of the morning Then it flashes back to memory before the eye reaches the news beneath the caption Time was, not so long ago, when Mellie Dunham had his first page display heads. Was he not the country fiddler who went to Detroit to play for Henry Ford? Of course he was. And did he not reach the vaudeville stage through the Ford music room? Now it is said that he is nearing the close of his engagement as a theatrical star, and that he has accumulated about $10,000 as the result of his efforts Once more the name of Mellie Dunham is in the papers

Nobody will begrudge Mellie Dunham and his good wife whatever sum they may have acquired as the result of their venture into the great world The champion fiddler of rural Maine proved himself to be a man of engaging personality. There was something in his rugged simplicity that appealed to the love of homely honesty. To the older people in his audience his playing recalled the days of simpler things. There was about it suggestion of a time when the countryside was not crowded with rushing motor cars and when neither city nor village contained a movie house. There were many in his audiences to whom the old tunes revived precious memories.

There have been intimations that Mellie Dunham's leap to the front pages was aided and utilized by a shrewd publicity agent as a means of attracting attention to the Pine Tree State. That would be quite in keeping with the spirit of the times. But, except on the theory that all adverising is good advertising, it is to be doubted that Maine has benefited to any considerable extent through the temporary fame of its fiddler. Certainly up to this time there has been no report of a new factory placed on the bank of the Androscoggin by capitalists who were entranced by the strains of the Dunham violin. And it is hardly to be expected that extra cars will be needed on the Pine Tree Limited to carry to Maine the summer visitors captivated by rustic melodies. But if Mellie Dunham's pilgrimage is not to be ranked as a first-class publicity "stunt," no tears will be shed by those who saw in him the kindly man to whom his fiddle and Henry Ford's interest in the simple joys of bygone days brought unexpected good fortune.

From letter of South Paris, Maine. boy Alton M. Porter, High School Agriculture Teacher at Monroe, Michigan: I saw Mellie and Gram at Keith's Theatre, Toledo, Ohio, April 19th We had very good seats, third from the front, it seemed good to see someone from near home for I never happened to, before. Mellie was the same as I used to see him when he played for the Odd Fellows' dances at South Paris, Maine. He certainly had a warm welcome at Toledo. They had posters stuck up all around advertising him, and a write-up about him on the screen. Everyone thought Mellie and Gram great, and enjoyed their program. I was sorry not to see them after the show, they had gone, and I had to drive twenty miles to get to my classes, as I was principal of the night school. I sure hope they have a safe return to their home at Norway, Maine.

On Monday, May 31, the procession will form at K. of P. Hall and march to the cemeteries for a short program and decoration of graves. Following this the program will be held at the monument and Rev. C. G. Miller will deliver the address. If the day should be rainy the program will be held at Pythian Hall in the forenoon. At noon dinner will be served at Grange Hall as usual. Miss Clara Ames, Miss Clara Jordan and Mrs Edith Edwards have charge of arrangements for dinner. The D. A. R., Daughters of Veterans, American Legion Auxiliary will assist. Further announcements will be made next week. Wreaths will be made at K. of P. Hall, Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon and evening, May 28 and 29 As more than 200 have to be made, it is important that a large number respond to this work.

Tuesday evening, May 18, the Pythian Sisters will hold a benefit card party after the regular meeting. Each member will invite guests to fill a table at play bring a table and a plate of refreshments.

Gary Locke	39	Underwood	Certificate
Arnold Hasty	36	Underwood	Certificate
Katherine Drake	35	Underwood	Certificate
Ralph Murdock	35	Royal	Certificate
Fred L. Bartlett	32	Royal	Certificate
Gary A. Locke	33	Royal	Certificate
Donald Matheson	31	Royal	Certificate
Lois Brown	34	Royal	Certificate
Bertha Towne	46	Royal	Gold Pin
Catherine Longley	40	Underwood	Bronze Pin
Marjorie Twitchell	31	Underwood	Certificate
Ellis Perry	38	Underwood	Certificate

These awards are for speed and accuracy. The Royal Typewriter requirements are that the student must write for fifteen minutes with five errors or less. Tests may be taken as often as desired as long as absolutely new material is used. The Underwood Typewriter Company issues but one test each month, but the errors are not limited. No papers are submitted that contain more than ten errors, however. Papers are corrected according to the International Typewriting Rules.

The following seniors passed the Theory test issued by the "Gregg Writer": Pearl McAllister, 95 per cent., Emma Porter, 94 per cent., Hallie McKeen, 94 per cent.

This test consists of a list of 100 words testing knowledge of theory of Gregg Shorthand. A grade of 90 per cent. is necessary in order to pass this test.

STONEHAM FARM CALLED HIM

He fell for the call of the land. Quit working in a Richmond shoe factory, went to East Stoneham.

That is what Frank Herrick did. He has been in the city since early last October. It is now farming, gardening and fishing.

The buildings need repairs and paint, he says, but it really is the summer call of the land and personal freedom rather than the piling up of dollars.

BUTTONS FALL OFF CLOTHING

We got some clothes the other day, preparatory to going fishing. Got them of a reputable dealer. Paid the price and had to sew on all the buttons on the pants, shirts and pajamas.

Why is it the buttons are not put on strong as they should be when the clothes are made?

The Rogers Club met with Mrs. Maud Murch on Bridge St., Monday evening to play auction. All the members were present but one, Mrs. George Hill, whose place was taken by Mrs. Geneva Partridge.

DONALD MACMILLAN'S LECTURE

Glimpses of the frozen north were presented to a large attendance at Association Hall, Friday evening. Word pictures and eight reels of movies were entertaining and instructive, showing conditions during Commander MacMillan's ninth expedition to the north.

The speaker was presented by Earle R. Clifford for an introduction was not necessary as Mr. MacMillan has been here a number of times and addressed gatherings.

A rapid summary of theories regarding the north pole and surrounding territory being given as an introduction to the moving pictures. Eskimo activities and the doings on sea and land were flashed on the screen, which Mr. MacMillan told a fascinating story of perils and hardships that confront any Arctic explorer.

The lecture was sponsored by the Arthur S. Foster Post, American Legion and some $100 will be the net profit.

William H. Harriman left Saturday noon by automobile for Fort Monroe, Newport News and Norflk, Va., expecting to reach his destination by Tuesday. No stopovers are planned for going and coming and sleeping quarters will be in the car. He plans to be away some ten days.

A. French Stevens opened his new drug store in Association Block, Saturday and has some fine fittings, including a modern soda fountain and convenient equipment. Carnations made a handsome decoration in the pharmacy and provided an attractive window display. Harry B. Stone received a box of candy for the first twenty-five cent purchase, and Miss Mary A. Pierce was presented an amethyst for the largest purchase for the day. Clayton Murch of Norway is the clerk there.

Mrs. Sadie Silver has moved from the Buck house to the C. W. Bowker house in the rear of the post office.

An additional room and a double deck porch are some of the changes at the J. E. Murch house now being remodeled for a tenement on the second floor.

Collection box for mail will be placed at corner of High and Porter streets. Mail left there will not be collected in season for the morning trains but will reach the office in season to connect with both trains in the afternoon.

George H. Clark of Waltham, Mass., has been the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Clark. He has resigned from the Waltham works for a position with the Formica Insulation Co. of Cincinnati, O. His family will locate there after the close of the school year.

The filling station for Harry D. Cole, who represents the Triangle Co., located corner of Main and Pine streets near the railroad crossing is coming along fast. It will soon be ready for occupancy.

Fire Sunday at Dr. Lougee's—Barrows Homestead Opened—Mr. Springer Home from the South.

An alarm of fire Sunday morning proved to be a chimney burning out at Dr. Lougee's house, not any damage.

A. A. Perry has opened his house on Main street.

Miss Anna Barrows has opened the Homestead for the summer.

Lorin Brown, one of our oldest and highly respected citizens, died last Tuesday. Mr. Brown leaves a wife and one daughter, Mrs. Chas. Howe to mourn their loss, also three grandchildren. The funeral was from his late home on River street, Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Edward Hastings (Jennie Warren), who has been ill for the past year, died quite suddenly Sunday morning of heart failure.

Several who contemplated building houses this season after doing a little figuring have wisely decided they better wait until prices come down, both for labor and material.

The cold April will shorten our summer greatly. Trees, grass and shrubs are not any further advanced at present than they usually are April 1st.

Mrs. Eliza G. Fife, who has been confined to the house all winter, was able to ride to North Conway and back one day last week. She is much better.

Mrs. Ellis McKeen visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hastings, Sunday.

Miss Jane Evans, who has been in Florida, has returned to Portland and will soon return to her home.

Mr. Springer, the baker, who has been in St. Petersburg with his family for the winter, has returned and is at pesent stopping with Hebet Wiley and wife.

Love is like whist. When people haven't anything else to do, they play it.

DENMARK

Sudden Death of Wm. McCauley—Seeley Moved Back to Farm—Edward Buck Will Work in Connecticut.

William McCauley passed away May 6. He was a native of Vermont, but came to this town some twenty years ago. He was 62 years old. Although he was in poor health he had been able to do some work in his blacksmith shop. The past winter he did quite a business carrying passengers. He had started out on one of these trips, when not far from home where his horse stopped to drink he fell over in his wagon, dying almost instantly. The many friends and neighbors were saddened at this sudden passing out. He was a great lover of children, they will sadly miss his kind face and friendly words, always smiling with them in their pleasures and sympathizing in their petty troubles. Mr. McCauley leaves a wife. There is a brother, sister, nephews and nieces to mourn their loss. Funeral services were held at his home Saturday, May 8th at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Conant of Cornish. There were many beautiful flowers, among them a wreath of Mayflowers from the school children.

Harlan Lord and Mrs. Kenneth Lord attended Pomona Grange at South Bridgton.

Denmark high school base ball team held a dance and supper, May 6th at Odd Fellows hall.

A good many of the winter sojourners in the south have returned home, among them Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sanborn.

Burr Sealey has move back to his farm.

Miss Bell Smith has returned home after spending the winter in Boston and vicinity.

Rufus Spiller is working for C. E. Pingree.

Albert Wentworth accompanied Frank Mitchell to Portland one day recently.

William Arnold is occupying the upper rent in the Burr Sealey house.

Mr. and Mrs. Dell Richardson are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son.

Mrs. Emma Smith is sick with grip.

Edward Buck spent a few days at his home here before taking up his new work in Hartford, Conn.

Mrs. Ralph Deering is envalescing from a recent operation.

Mrs. Mildred Potter is caring for Mrs. Dell Richardson.

Perley Smith attended the grand lodge of Masons in Portland.

Emma Trone spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. John Trone.

Mrs. Byron Rolfe assistant teacher in the high school, has returned to take up her duties after being absent five weeks on account of ill health.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Jack of Norway were recent visitors in town.

Mrs. Nellie Perkins has rented her farm.

SWEDEN

Camp Katahdin Leased for Boys' Camp —Road Being Repaired—Child Health Program at Sweden Grange.

Isabel Ridlon and Donald visited Mrs. Stephen Ridlon and Oscar Buzzell in Bridgton Valley, finding Oscar poorly.

Roland and Beulah Howard were up Sunday from North Bridgton with their car for the first time this spring. They visited at Chester Russell's.

Lee Kimball and his family visited at Wyman Kimball's and John Pike's, Sunday.

Elizabeth Ridlon, who is attending school at Bridgton Academy, spent the week end at her home. She is working her board at Elms Inn at Harrison and walking to school.

Chester Russell has bought a Ford coupe.

Friends of George Pike will be sorry to learn that he will not come to Camp Katahdin this year. He has leased the camp to Theodore Jeffers and Robert Day of Providence, R. I. They will run a camp for small boys and have a lady cook.

Dan Ridlon is at work on the river driving logs. Henry Ridlon is at work at North Bridgton for his uncle, Sam Ridlon.

Recent visitors at Isabel Ridlon's were Mr. and Mrs. Byron Hartford and Mrs. Charlotte Norton.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Merrill and son, Leo, walked to Harrison, Sunday, bringing home a supply of groceries. Lack of horse or car do not trouble this couple as long as "Shanks mare" holds out. They are living in the Joe Ouilette house in the Ridlon neighborhood.

Edith Russell and little daughter, Eleanor, have been very ill with flu.

George Ridlon, Chester Russell, William Ridlon, Roy Weymouth, Wyman Kimball, Walter Merrill and Bob Smart are working for John Pike in the mill.

Our road commissioner, Ray Kneeland, with Hade Smart and Ilan Smart have been cleaning up the water courses around town.

Millard Adams is cutting bushes on the North Bridgton road and boarding with his sister, Mrs. George Porter on the upper ridge.

Miss Harriet Mann is working at Geo. Porter's and her sister, Adelaide, is at Arthur Flint's.

KEZAR FALLS

Reception to Rev. and Mrs. Callaghan—New Doctor Coming to Town—Mr. Norton Attends Convention.

A forecasted event for the evening of May 10th in the vestry of the M. E. church is the reception to be given Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Callaghan by the Daisy Class. Mrs. Frank Emery, Mrs. Fred Whiton and Mrs. Will Norton, committee of arrangements. Every department of the church to be represented by spoken word, music, vocal and instrumental as well as refreshments to have their part in the evening's entertainment. The people are well pleased to have Mr. and Mrs. Callaghan come into their own again and invite all who may to rejoice with them.

A new doctor is coming to town, his name is McCabe, he brings his mother with him and has engaged what used to be called the Towle house to live in. Those who have met him are very favorably impressed.

Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart have taken a rent and gone to housekeeping. Mrs. Stewart was much liked as a teacher, but too close confinement in the school room was undermining her health and it was thought a change would be beneficial for her.

The Portland Stove Foundery Co. of Portland held a convention May 6th. W. T. Norton, hardware dealer of this town was among the invited guests and found himself in a most congenial element and pronounces them royal entertainers. He took in all of the program which was business combined with pleasure with a few extras added. They visited the foundry and saw ranges and furnaces in the making and listened to words of wisdom from those well qualified to utter them and later, seated at a table laden with good things to eat listened to speeches impromptu and otherwise, till suddenly a striking looking man riveted his attention. They were being introduced to Sir James Raleigh from Scotland, one of the speakers of the evening. In a conversational way he spoke of the late war and the strike now on in England and other things of interest and then he sang Annie Laurie in such a wonderful voice with so much of feeling and sentiment, the words and the tune struck home and his listeners went wild with applause and when asked what he should sing next, they demanded the second verse, he complied and toward the last end of the lines he reached his hand up to his face and pulled off his beard and whiskers and stood, just a plain man from Boston, which goes to prove the truth of the old adage, "A little nonsense, now and then, is relished by the best of men, especially with a line of sentiment running through.

Mrs. Seth Spring and Mrs. William Riley entertained the Ladies' Circle, Tuesday of last week. There were twenty-four present and report a fine session.

All Out Of Sorts?

So Was This Norway Woman Who Tells Her Experience

All too often women accept their pains and aches as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that weak kidneys are often to blame for that backache, those headaches, dizzy spells and that tired, depressed feeling. Thousands have found new health and strength by helping the weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. This Norway case is one of many:

Mrs. Ray Bennett, 31 Deering St., says: "I had to be on my feet so long about my housework, that it put a strain on my back and kidneys. I had such backaches that I didn't have any strength to do my work. My back was also lame and stiff. My kidneys were weak and out of order, too. I used two boxes of Doan's Pills from Ashton's Drug Store and was cured."

TROUT FISHING IN THE RANGELEY LAKES, MAINE

Taken from Scribner's Magazine of February, 1877

Henry S. Chafee of the Builder's Iron Foundry of Providence, R. I., owns the book from which this article was taken. He loaned it to his fishing friend, Malcolm Gregg, of Norway, who allowed us to copy it. The writer of this article is unknown to us, but the records undoubtedly are correct.

The fish here produced, be it understood, is a genuine specimen of the speckled brook trout. When taken from its water by its captor, R. G. Allerton of New York City. It had all the recognized peculiarities of brook trout,—the square tail, small head, mouth black inside (instead of white, as is the case with lake trout), and finally the bright vermilion spots which distinguish brook trout from all other species.

This particular fish was captured June 5, 1860, in Lake Mooseluemaguntic. It was taken on a trolling line after a contest lasting forty-nine minutes. When landed it was entirely uninjured, and several days after when killed it was laid upon a piece of birch bark, and its outline traced, and then filled in by an amateur artist. In length this trout measured 25 inches, and at the thickest part its girth was 17 inches.

There is nothing like accuracy in a "fish story," and as this trout is by no means the largest which has been captured in the Rangeley Lakes, and is one of thousands of this species ranging from half a pound to ten pounds which have been taken in these waters, it only remains to add that the legend this drawing bears refers entirely to the fish whose obituary is here written, and not at all to the statements about his fellow-denizens of the Rangeley Lakes, some information about which it is the purpose of this paper to present.

Mooseluemaguntic, Molechunkemunk, Welokenebacook, Cupsuptic, and Rangeley, are the names carried by the individual members of a group of lakes which are yet destined to be as familiar in the literature of the American sportsman as the salmon rivers of Canada or the trout streams of the Adirondacks. These lakes lie in the western part of Maine, near the New Hampshire boundary line. The White Mountains are some thirty miles distant, a little to the west of south, and Moosehead Lake is about sixty or seventy miles to the northeast. It may be absolute incredulity as to the fish stories which are told of these lakes,—it is hard for one who has not seen a speckled trout weighing ten, eight, or even six pounds, to have faith in the existence of a fish of this size and species,—or it may be despair of defining his destination when the sportsman reads the unpronounceable names which these lakes bear; but whatever the cause, the number of visitors to this region has thus far been comparatively small.

Thoreau, to be sure, described it in a general way years ago, and so did Theodore Winthrop, but their accounts made it appear like a terra incognita, full of difficulties when it was once reached.

Now, however, the railroad excursion fiend has fixed his fangs upon the district. Excursion tickets from Boston to the Rangeley lakes and return by various routes are sold by the different railroads; photographers have been through the Lakes taking views of the various camps and of picturesque localities in general; at least one guidebook has been issued, and since the last barrier to the exclusiveness of the district has thus been broken down, there can be no breach of trust in giving to the readers of Scribner's Monthly an accurate account of one of the most picturesque and attractive regions east of the Rocky Mountains.

Maine is so profusely dotted over with lakes as to suggest the thought that the State has not yet been well drained or that a slight tilting of the continent might depress the general level of this region so as to submerge it in the Atlantic. But the fact is that the lakes which have just been named are between fourteen and fifteen hundred feet above the sea-level, and are embosomed in mountains, some of which reach a height of two, three, and even four thousand feet. Approaching from the south-east by way of Farmington and Phillips, you first strike Rangeley Lake at its extreme eastern end, and here the entire group is generally spoken of as the Rangeley Lakes. Coming from the other direction, by way of Andover, Welokenebacook is first reached, and in this region one hears the group spoken of as the Richardson Lakes, although this name is properly applicable only to Welokenebacook and Molechunkemunk. But the tourist and the fisherman will appreciate the advantage of explicit directions regarding the precise routes which it is desirable to follow in reaching the Lakes.

Portland is the point where one must decide whether he shall approach the Lakes from their southern or from their north-eastern extremity. If he wishes to go by way of Umbagog, he must take the Grand Trunk Railroad to Bethel. Taking supper at the Bethel House, the traveler goes to Upton by stage the same evening, accomplishing the distance—26 miles—by eleven o'clock. The next morning the little steamer "Diamond" will take you through Lake Umbagog to the "Inlet," a distance of twelve miles. Leaving the "Diamond" at this point, a row-boat conveys you to the "Rapids," a mile and a half further. Here is a "carry" of four and a half miles, over which the luggage is hauled by a team, while the fisherman foots it, and you are at the Middle Camp Dam, which is about the middle of the western shore of Welokenebacook, whence access is easy to Molechunkemunk and Mooseluemaguntic.

Or a shorter, and in other respects a preferable route, is to stop at Bryant's Pond, whence stages run three times a week—Monday, Wednesday and Friday—to Andover, eighteen miles distant. There at the Greig House you will find in "Charley" Cushman a "guide, philosopher and friend," who will not only give all necessary information as to the accommodations for fishermen upon the lower lakes, but in an emergency, as I can bear most cheerful witness, will see you safely to your destination, and make it certain that you are well provided for. To reach the "Arm" a twelve-mile ride on a buckboard over a difficult road must be undergone, and thence by a small steamer the Middle or Upper Dam may be reached. Communication by either of these routes, however, is not so regular, sure or easy as by way of Farmington and Phillips, and as this is the direct route to the camp of the Oquossoc Angling Association, which is by far the best managed organization of its kind in this region, the tourist or sportsman will generally give it the preference. Leaving Portland a little after one o'clock, you arrive at Farmington about six. There "Uncle John" Pickens takes charge of all your "traps,' and stows them with conscientious care in the boot of his capacious Concord coach. A supper at the Forest House fortifies you for an eighteen mile ride to Phillips, and this is materially shortened by Uncle John's famous "bear story" and other characteristic narratives. Stopping overnight at the Barden House, or at the Elmwood House kept by Mr. Prescott, you take an early start the next morning, and after a stage ride of twenty miles reach Kimball's Hotel, at the head of Rangeley Lake, by noon. Taking dinner here and after it the "Molly-chunk-e-munk," one of the little steamers which have recently invaded the sanctity of these lakes, you are in an hour and a half landed at the foot of Rangeley. Here there has just been erected a hotel known as the Mountain View House, which is open to all comers, and near it is the private camp of Theodore L. Page,—Lake Point Cottage.

In comparison with the unpronounceable Indian names which the contiguous lakes bear, that of Rangeley appears singularly commonplace and civilized, but formerly it was quite as well off as its neighbors.

Originally it was known as Oquossoc Lake, but about fifty years ago a wealthy English squire, Rangeley by name, having wearied of the civilized tameness of his Virginia estate, decided to settle in this northern wilderness.

He cleared a broad tract at the outlet of Rangeley Lake, built a dam across the stream, erected extensive saw and grist mills, and expended large sums of money in other improvements. His supplies of all kinds were transported from Phillips or Farmington, a distance of thirty to fifty miles, and he was compelled to haul his lumber a hundred miles to find a market.

For twenty years Squire Rangeley lived here, pushing his business enterprises with great energy and more or less success, and enjoying the field sports, of which he was passionately fond. Moose caribou, deer, bear and wolves were his constant neighbors; ducks, geese, partridge and smaller game were so abundant that shooting them could hardly be called sport; and brook trout weighing six, seven, eight or nine pounds could be taken by the score from the stream which ran past his front door.

When Squire Rangeley, for reasons which tradition does not record, gave up the enterprise which he had pushed for a time with so much energy, his mills and buildings were all abandoned, and the clearings which he had made were rapidly seeded down by the hand of nature; pines, spruces, juniper and fir springing up everywhere in place of the ancient monarchs of the primeval forest which he had cleared away at the cost of so much labor.

Ten years ago, the frame and roof of the massive old mill were still standing, but in 1866 these were pulled down and the solid pine timbers of the structure were incorporated in the new dam which was then built for the purpose of floating logs through the outlet in the early spring.

Of the old homestead, which occupied a commanding site on a beautiful knoll, only the decayed foundation timbers remain. Enough of the "Potash" building still stands to give a passable shelter to the benighted angler. With these exceptions, Squire Rangeley's "improvements" have all disappeared.

The township which he once owned, however, still bears his name. Nearly all of the lake lies within its limits. The town of Rangeley—or the "city," as the natives call it—is half a mile back from the extreme end of the lake. Most of the male inhabitants of the village devote themselves to "guiding" throughout the entire fishing season, and spruce gum in its native state is one of its chief exports. Apart from these "industries" there is little that is noteworthy about the town, and the sportsman misses nothing which he has cause to regret in the fact that his route does not take him to the "city."

Until two years ago, the trip through Rangeley Lake to its outlet was made either in Captain Crosby's sail-boat or in row-boats. Rangeley Lake, by the way, is 1,51[illegible] feet above tide water. Its breadth is three miles and its length nine miles, and few more picturesque scenes can be imagined than a fleet of six or seven of these row-boats, each with a small United States flag floating from its bow, rapidly moving down the lake, carrying one or two sportsmen on the way to the headquarters of the famous Oquossoc Angling Association.

Leaving the steamer "Molly-chunk-e-munk,—the name of which has thus gallantly been metamorphosed and Anglicized from the Indian appellation of Lake Mole-chunk-e-mung,—members of the angling association named or visitors to their camp cross a two-mile carry from the foot of Rangeley Lake to the junction of Kennebago Stream with Rangeley Stream, where is Camp Kennebago.

A wagon takes the baggage, while the sportsmen themselves walk across through an excellent wood road, which, however, is marshy enough in spots to make very careful stepping or very thick boots indispensable. Indian Rock—a locality famous even in the aboriginal annals of Maine, as its name indicates—is on the left bank of the stream, directly facing Camp Kennebago.

Tradition relates that this spot was a favorite haunt of the Indian long before the white man ventured so far into the forest, and that as late as 1855 they made visits here from Canada each season.

The lakes of the Rangeley group are so located with respect to one another that it is extremely difficult for the visitor to get a clear idea of their relative positions. Nothing does this so effectively as an ascent of Bald Mountain, which is one of the most prominent objects in this whole landscape, since it rises seventeen hundred feet above the level of the lake. The ascent may be made with comparative ease by any one at all accustomed to mountain climbing and there are several paths to the summit.

Bald Mountain is in reality a peninsula. Its base is washed by Rangeley Lake, Rangeley Stream, Cupsuptic Lake and Mooseluemaguntic. A narrow strip of land on the south connects it with the main-land. Once on the summit, looking eastward, you see the Rangeley, its graceful form deeply outlined, and every indentation plainly marked.

Old Saddleback, rock-ribbed and bare, and rising four thousand feet, faces you. Still further east are the twin Bigelows, Mount Abraham, and the East and West Kennebago Mountains. That thread of silver in the immediate foreground is the wide and rapid Rangeley outlet, which falls twenty-five feet in the two miles intervening between the point where it leaves the lake and its junction with the calmer and deeper waters of the Kennebago.

At this point can be clearly distinguished the grounds and buildings of Camp Kennebago, with the stars and stripes waving from the tall flag-staff. Something more than words is necessary to do full justice to the exquisitely varied panorama of lake and mountain, the beauty of which could be hardly more than indicated by the catalogue of names necessary to identify them.

Before describing Camp Kennebago in detail, it may be as well to give in brief a sketch of the history of the Oquossoc Angling Association, of which organization this camp is the headquarters. So long as thirty years ago, a sportsman now and then worked his way through the wilderness to these lakes, but it is only within the last fifteen years that the Rangeley, Kennebago, and Cupsuptic Lakes, with the upper end of Mooseluemaguntic, have become at all well known to anglers.

The Richardson Lakes—Welokenebacook and Molechunkemunk, with Umbagog, forming the lower lakes in the great chain whence the Androscoggin River derives its mighty power—have for the last thirty or forty years been frequented by a score or more of Boston and New York gentlemen. These sportsmen were invariably found at "Rich's" "Middle Dam," Mosquito Brook, or the "Upper Dam." Hundreds of spotted beauties weighing from two to eight pounds, were captured by these anglers year after year but they wisely kept their own counsel, and if an item occasionally found its way into the New York or Boston papers chronicling the arrival of a six or eight pound speckled trout, those who claimed to be best informed dismissed the paragraph with a sneer at the ignorance of editors who did not know the difference between brook trout and "lakers."

In 1860, Henry O. Stanley, of Dixfield, now one of the efficient commissioners of fisheries for the State of Maine, organized an expedition to penetrate to the lakes from the upper end. Twenty years before, Mr. Stanly's father had made the survey of much of the lake country, and discovering the extraordinary size of the trout, had frequently repeated his visits. The son now and then accompanied his father on these trips, and with such a preceptor in the gentle art, and with such opportunities for its practice, it is not strange that Mr. Stanley should have achieved the distinction of being the champion fly-fisher of the world. His record of brook trout weighing from three to nine and a half pounds, all taken with the fly, reaches many hundred.

The party which Mr. Stanley headed on the occasion alluded to made its way to the lake, via Dixfield, Carthage, Weld, Philips, and Madrid, striking first the upper end of Rangeley. One of its members, Mr. George Shepard Page, of New York City, was so delighted with his experience upon this trip that in 1863 he made a second journey by the same route. He returned from this trip, bringing with him eight brook trout weighing respectively 8⅜, 8¼, 7¼, 6½, 6, 5½, 5, 5—total, 51⅞ lbs., or an average of nearly 6½ lbs. each.

William Cullen Bryant, Henry J. Raymond and George Wilkes were presented with the three largest, and made acknowledgments duly in the "Evening Post," the "New York Times," and the "Spirit of the Times." Then there broke out an excitement among anglers altogether without precedent. Scores of letters were sent to the papers which had presumed to call these brook trout,—some of them interrogative, others denunciatory, others theoretical, and others flatly contradictory. The Adirondacks had never yielded a brook trout which weighed more than 5 lbs., and that, therefore, must be the standard of brook trout the world over.

But Mr. Page had foreseen the violent scepticism which was sure to manifest itself, and had sent a seven-pounder to Professor Agassiz, who speedily replied that these monster trout were genuine specimens of the speckled or brook trout family, and that they were only found in large numbers in the lakes and streams at the head waters of the Androscoggin River, in North-western Maine.

In 1864, several New York gentlemen visited Rangeley, among the number Messrs. Lewis B. Reed, R. G. Allerton, and L. T. Lazell. Upon their return, they fully corroborated the report made by Mr. Page the year previous, and brought back with them several trout which weighed from three to eight pounds.

In 1867, Mr. Page again visited Rangeley in company with Mr. Stanley, and ten days' fishing by these two gentlemen and Mr. Fields of Gorham, N. H., showed these extraordinary results:

In 1868, the number of anglers visiting the lakes had so rapidly increased that it was decided to organize an association for the purpose of leasing ground, erecting buildings, and purchasing boats. Messrs. Bowles, of Springfield, Mass., Lazell and Reed, of Brooklyn, N. Y., George Shepard Page and R. G. Allerton, of this city, Hon. W. P. Frye, of Lewiston, Me., W. S. Badger, of Augusta, Me., and T. L. Page, of New Orleans, who were all in adjacent camps at the outlet of Rangeley Lake, formally orgauized the Oquossoc Angling Association by the election of Mr. G. S. Page as president and Mr. L. B. Reed, secretary.

In the year following (1869), the association purchased the buildings, improvements and boats belonging to C. T Richardson (now superintendent of the association) at the junction of the Rangeley and Kennebago, and immediately began the erection of Camp Kennebago Meantime the membership rapidly increased, and in 1870 the association was formally incorporated under the laws of the State of Maine.

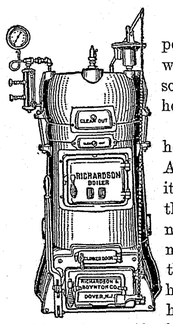
On Winter Nights



More than a million people enjoy the cozy warmth of Richardson Boilers in their homes.

More than a million healthy, red-blooded Americans find security in the knowledge that on a moment's notice they can command ample heat for their comfort and health, and that their heating equipment will last them a life time.

This group, while equal to a large city, represents only one out of every hundred of population in the U. S. A.—a select, fortunate community, blessed with a peace of mind worth far more than the cost of it.

Select? Yes—for not everyone can enjoy this peace of mind that comes through the possession of Richardson & Boynton Equipment.

Richardson Boilers can well be compared to the fine custom built motor car. We aim first to make the best—then to produce as many as possible without sacrificing quality.

For years the demand for Richardson Boilers has been way in excess of our plant facilities.

In the autumn months, this demand has been so acute as to throw us weeks, yes, months, behind on deliveries.

And while we are constantly building to keep pace with the public's needs, we urge you to place your order well in advance of your actual requirements.

HARRISON

Walker-Harmon Wedding—Pretty May Festival on the Town Hall Yard—Guests at the Leavitt Home—Log Cabin Tea Room—Grangers Outing.

A very lovely wedding took place in Bridgton on Saturday evening, May 1st, at the home of Mr. Clifford Harmon, when his only daughter, Naomi Louise Harmon became the bride of Paul Whitman Walker of Harrison. The house was charmingly decorated with orange blossoms, roses and crepe paper and the bride, who was very attractive in pink silk, was given away by her father, Clifford Harmon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. W. Witham of Harrison and only the relatives were present. The bride is a graduate of Bridgton high school in the class of 1924 and has always lived in Bridgton. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Wilmot Walker of Harrison and graduated from Bridgton Academy, 1922. He later attended Bates college. Both young people have the best wishes of their many friends in this community where they are so well known. Mr. Walker is at present employed in the Forest Mills at Bridgton, but later they plan to make their home in Harrison. They are very prominent in the musical circles at Bridgton, where they both sing in the Methodist church choir. Mr. Walker is a pupil of Mrs. Stillman Richardson and plans to study further and make use of his unusually fine voice.

Extra copies of the Norway Advertiser are on sale at the Country Shop.

Dr. J. P. Blake is adding a fine large kitchen and shed to his home on Main street. O. N. Abott, Lewis Briggs, H. H. Caswell, Ernest Winslow and E. P. Stearns are among the carpenters employed.

Freeman Whitney is adding a carriage shed to his home on Main street. B. W. Harmon is doing the work.

Arlene and Geraldine Harmon were Sunday guests at their aunt's, Mrs. John Howard Randall's at South Harrison. B. W. Harmon visited relatives in Naples.

A very pretty May festival was given on Friday afternoon by the pupils of the village schools at the town hall yard. A large and appreciative audience enjoyed the pretty affair which was well carried out by the tiny pupils as well as the older ones. In the evening a special Parent-Teachers' meeting was held at Woodland hall. Dr. Pepper, state health officer from Augusta, gave a very helpful talk, especially for teachers. Frances Burnham played a piano solo in her usual delightful manner.

Miss Bertie Burnham was a guest recently of Mr. and Mrs. John Keene on High street.

Ora Little, who is serving on the jury in Portland, is spending a few weeks recess at his home on Maple Ridge.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Leavitt on High street, included Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Reynolds and daughter. Elaine, also his mother, Mrs. Nellie Reynolds and sister, Mrs. Lloyd Walker, all of Bridgton and Mr. and Mrs. Solon McAllister and son, Floyd of East Stoneham.

G. Harrington Flint of South Paris spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Flint on High street.

Mrs. Leonard Carsley spent the past week visiting friends in Portland and Auburn. Her son, Richard, spent the week with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Carsley at South Harrison.

Mrs. A. P. Stanley is spending a few weeks in Portland and vicinity.

Friends of Mrs. Blanche Merrill and daughter, Miss Marguerite, are pleased to know that they have returned to Moose Pond, where they will conduct the Log Cabin tea room as they have for several seasons. They have passed a delightful winter in Portland and vicinity.

Pledge to the Public
on Used Car Sales

1 All used cars offered to the public shall be honestly represented.

If a car is suitable only for a mechanic who can rebuild it, or for some one who expects only a few months' rough usage on a camping trip, it must be sold on that basis. Each car must be sold for just what it is.

2 All Studebaker automobiles which are sold as CERTIFIED CARS have been properly reconditioned, and carry a 30-day guarantee for replacement of defective parts and free service on adjustments.

This is possible because tremendous reserve mileage has been built into every Studebaker, which it is impossible to exhaust in years.

3 Every used car is conspicuously marked with its price in plain figures, and that price, just as the price of our new cars, is rigidly maintained.

The public can deal in confidence and safety only with the dealer whose policy is "one price only—the same price to all." For, to sell cars on this basis, every one of them must be honestly priced to begin with.

4 Every purchaser of a used car may drive it for five days, and then, if not satisfied for any reason, turn it back and apply the money paid as a credit on the purchase of any other car in stock—new or used.

It is assumed, of course, that the car has not been smashed up by collision or other accident in the meantime.

Not only to the public, but also to The Studebaker Corporation of America, whose cars we sell, we pledge adherence to the above policy in selling used cars.

W. F. KNIGHT CO.

The Studebaker Corporation of America takes pride and pleasure in announcing that the above Pledge is being carried out by

W. F. KNIGHT CO.
5 Deering Street, Norway, Maine

THE Pledge speaks for itself. It is a formal declaration of the fair and square attitude of Studebaker dealers toward the public.

It is an assurance of honest dealing in a line of merchandising which in some times and places has fallen into ill repute.

It is an assertion of confidence in the reserve mileage built into the sturdy "one-profit" Studebaker automobiles.

Pendexter's New Novel

Book Review Describes the Writing of It as "With Skill and Effect"

Inferiority complexes have at last invaded the range, and even Wild Western fiction comes under the domination of Freudian principles, it seems, for Mr. Pendexter's latest hero, Shoshoni Harry although he wears a brace of Colts and carries a Henry rifle, has been all his life pursued by a shadowy vengeance from which he must ever flee until love lead him to seek out this fear, drive it into the open and subdue it.

The story of "Harry Idaho" is based on four incidents, all of them said to be historical. One, the story of the two men who stumbled on gold in Idaho during the rush of '45, but never discovered their treasure until they had their samples assayed on reaching California. Years later they were back in Idaho still trying to find again the Lost Diggings. The second was a tale of that band of Avenging Angels of the Mormon Church known as the Danites and the third occurred during the Idaho gold rush of 1865, when Governor Lyon was reported to have discovered diamonds within the territory's boundaries, when law and justice was a mockery and even gold dust was actively counterfeited. The last concerned an Indian who gave up a chieftainship and became a coward because he had lost his "medicine."

All of these, Mr. Pendexter has woven into his story with skill and effect. One must read the story to discover what the author has made of them, however. Harry Idaho is a girl, brought up among the rough men, but shielded from them by a half-crazed but loving grandfather. She is awakened to love by the mysterious Shoshoni Harry, of whom little is known save that he has spent his boyhood among the Indians and always has shunned the settlements, but much is suspected. A smooth and unscrupulous gambler, a trio of Avenging Angels, a corrupt administration and two loyal friends complicate the course of true love in the approved fashion.

Suffice it to say that "Harry Idaho" is filled with mystery, excitement, gun play and love, all of those ingredients indispensable to a western yarn. Mr. Pendexter is no novice in this sort of thing, he has taken toll from nearly every American frontier, in fact and this latest novel from his pen is as good as anything he has as yet done. S. L. R. in Boston Transcript.

HEBRON

Bearce Neighborhood

Girls Took Their First Ride on Train—Men Gave Day's Work on the Road—May Baskets.

Mary Drake spent the week end at her home in Livermore. Two of her scholars, Mary and Minnie Pulkkinen, went with her. Neither of the little girls had been on the steam cars before. They had a most enjoyable time.

The men in this vicinity gave a day's work on the road here last week. Frank Sturtevant worked two days with the road machine, consequently the roads are in very good condition and auto travel is increasing daily.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Crooker visited their sister, Mrs. Frank Sturtevant, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sturtevant and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Sturtevant, also visited there, Sunday.

Hanging May baskets seems to be the order of the day, or rather evening, here now.

Everyone in this vicinity is busy getting the ground ready for planting.

Frank Sturtevant has been grafting over some of his Ben Davis trees.

Dallas Benson of Oxford was called here on business, recently.

Fred Farris visited his mother, Mrs. Eliza A. Farris, recently.

B. M. Pratt visited here over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hay have finished work at the Academy and are at their home here.

HARTFORD

As Herbert Foote and little son were driving home from Hartford Center, Thursday, Mr. Foote started to walk up the Scott Robinson Hill. The horse became frightened and started up, leaving Mr. Foote and going on with the boy very much frightened, too, until Mrs. Ruth Chamberlain stopped the horse as he passed her house.

Rev. Charles Whynaught returns as pastor to Livermore and Hartford for this year.

Miss Julia Bryant, on her way to her school at Hartford, was thrown out of the wagon, but unhurt, Friday, May 7.

Ezra E. Bryant of Hartford and Clara F. Gordon of Livermore were married Thursday, May 6.

The wise man may become foolish at times, but the fool can never annex wisdom.

The woman who insists upon the right to change her own mind is never happy unless she can change the minds of others.

Will your wife, too, have this added protection?
The creation of a life insurance fund is the duty of every man, but it is just as much a duty for him to take every precaution to provide for the conservation of this fund, to insure its being used to do the things for which it was secured.
Every man who carries life insurance has a feeling of security in the thought that in the event of his death a goodly sum of money will be turned over to his wife for her support and for the care and education of his children.
But many men have often been worried by the thought of what might happen to that money when it is thus turned over.
Taking care of money requires experience. In this age of speculation, of tax intricacies and other problems, a lack of experience often leads to disastrous results.
Why not prevent such a possibility?
The best plan is to carry life insurance made payable to the Norway National Bank as Trustee. In this way the bank will invest the money and will pay the income to your widow or other dependents.
To the man who has accumulated much or little, this means of providing for his family offers a wonderful opportunity.
We will be glad to give you complete information about Life Insurance Trusts. Ask any officer.

Supremacy in Fine Steel
In the percentage of Costly Chrome Vanadium Steel used, Dodge Brothers Motor Car outranks any other automobile in the world, regardless of cost.
It is everywhere conceded that Chrome Vanadium Steel is the toughest and most enduring metal ever created for use in the vital parts of a motor car.
It may not be so well known, however, that Dodge Brothers Motor Car ranks first in the world in the use of this costly and fatigue-proof material.
Dodge Brothers power assembly is almost entirely Chrome Vanadium — motor, connecting rods, crankshaft, transmission, universal joint, drive shaft, differential and rear axle.
Even the front axle is Chrome Vanadium—the entire steering unit—and every leaf of the springs.
In fact, wherever any manufacturer uses alloy steels, Dodge Brothers use costly Chrome Vanadium. And in numerous instances Dodge Brothers employ it where plain carbon steel, even in the costliest cars, is commonly thought sufficient.
This has been true from the day Dodge Brothers built their first motor car.
This explains why the words Long Life, Safety and Dependability are habitually associated with the name Dodge Brothers wherever motor cars are serving mankind.

Norway Paper 85 Years Ago

Many Interesting Articles Related

"The Politician" is the title of a paper printed here in 1840. Its editor was Wm. E. Goodnow and the price $1.75 for the year. It evidently filled the place for a local paper, though there is little home news in it. We are unable to find a "home news" item in its columns. At that time there was no call for the silly items so common in present day papers. People then were too busy in getting a living to indulge in such foolishness.

Among the marriages is announced the union of Daniel J. York to Miss Elcy Bean, both of Bethel, and in Sumner, Jacob F. Howe to Miss Polly B. Howe. We wonder if they were not the parents of the late Freeland Howe of this town, who died in 1912. In Ellsworth, "Mr. Joseph Frost to Miss Sarah Snow (this is a cold concern: they must have made love with icicles)" is a witty saying that follows the announcement.

There is an assignee's sale of the stock in trade of the Oxford Book Store, owned by Asa Barton, who at one time was a newspaper publisher of this town. In fact, he published the first newspaper in Norway, having come here from Paris Hill in 1826. He had drugs and medicines for sale. Stephen Emery and Ezra F. Beal were the assignees, Ezra was the father of the late General George L. Beal.

H. W. Millett was deputy sheriff and was to sell the property of Isaac Donham at the store of Winthrop B. Norton in Oxford, to satisfy the claims of Rufus Shaw, mortgagee of a shoemaker's shop.

H. W. Goodnow, presumably the wife of the publisher, had an elegant assortment of millinery for sale, also Band-Boxes. Joel Parkhurst, at Steep Falls, is in evidence and refers to Joshua Smith and Ebenezer Hobbs as to reliability in the sale of blacksmith's bellows. N. Reed is a physician and surgeon and lives at Minot, Me.

The Politician is of date of April 2, 1833, and its owner says that he has sold the business to Horatio King, publisher of the Jeffersonian of Paris Hill and that the Politician will be continued until the laws of the State for 1833 are published, after which it will be discontinued.

A Place to Go and Sit

Pertinent Comments and Conclusions Taken From the Milford (N. H.) Cabinet Regarding the Weary Whittlers' Institution

"A short article in the Outlook of last week has especial interest to the people in country towns who recognize the spirit manifest and the real call for just such rest havens as is described by Mr. Seitz in his interesting article telling what was done down in Norway, Maine.

The one thing that has been lacking in our social economy in years past is the general mixing and rubbing shoulders of men in business and probably of men not in business, although the latter class are more apt to find places where they have contact with their fellow men, places where they can meet and discuss politics and social and business problems together than does the hurried business man whose work at his desk drives him all the time until he turns the key upon the lock at the close of the day.

The "nail keg club" which is now becoming extinct and which has served a good purpose as a "melting pot" of ideas in many communities is not wholly supplied by the new order which offers in its place Rotary, Kiwanis and numerous other similar organizations where men put their feet under the common table and exchange with their neighbors once a week at least, ideas, and often settle (in their own minds) questions of momentous importance, the echoes of which are rocking civilization.

The writer of this paragraph well remembers when he was a very small boy more than fifty years ago, soon after the close of the civil war, when after the supper hour he would walk down to the village store with his grandfather, Matthew Rotch, of Mont Vernon.

The village store was kept by T. H. Richardson, who was a rank "copperhead," a democrat who believed in the cause that the south fought for. Gathered about the wood burning stove in that little store, the writer witnessed some heated discussions and arguments for and against secession.

They were real tragedies in his young life and when his crippled grandfather stood up and waved his cane in defense of Lincoln and abolition there were times when he believed he was near a great tragedy and returned home trembling with excitement. It was this interchange of opinions that colored the attitude of the whole north during the reconstruction period.

In later years, gathered about the store stove in the grocery store of H. F. Abbott at Amherst, there were settled (in his mind) some of the national problems of that reconstruction period.

It was just the same everywhere in every small town, the small store offered a place where a man could find self-expression. He did not care whether others agreed with him or not. He developed individuality and a fluency of language that would put to shame many college graduates today.

These conditions have greatly changed and there is nothing that has come along to supply their place. People are often less acquainted with their neighbors than with most other people in the community. They meet in church, in lodges and in clubs, but the old nail keg club has about gone forever and we are glad that brother Fred Sanborn of Norway, Maine, whom we know quite intimately, has found a method for sustaining the life of one club indefinitely."

PRINTERS AND CAMP OWNERS VISIT

All togged out in fishing regalia and ready for landing "a big one" was Frank W. Wardwell of Portland when he arrived Wednesday in our office. He was on the way to Adams' Camps, North Lovell and was waiting for the camp owner, Mr. F. H. Maxfield to get steak and onions, hence the call.

Chas. E. Waterman, printer, editor and historian of Mechanic Falls was in our shop at the time. Ink, fish, indian stone implements and stories with enthusiasm was all mixed together until Mr. Maxfield —who by-the-way was a school teacher here when Dr. A. N. French was superintendent back late in the last century—called and cut short our visit.

Mr. Wardwell left with high hopes and great expectations for the Bay in Upper Kezar, where lurk all mixed together, smelt, salmon and big stories. Mr. Waterman passed gently out on the bus to visit A. E. Forbes of the Oxford Democrat on which he learned the printer's trade many years ago.

Mr. Waterman is seriously considering joining with Judge C. F. Whitman and producing the long talked of "History of Oxford County". The judge has been compiling the "story" for several years and has sixteen chapters already written.

Miss Carrie Tucker returned from Boston, Wednesday evening, where she has been with Mrs. Victorine Blanchard for several days, Mrs. Blanchard remaining for a longer stay. Sunday they went to see Charles G. Blake at Marblehead, and found him very nicely and making plans to return home within a few weeks. Arriving in Portland, Wednesday afternoon, Miss Tucker went to see John H. Hazelton, who left St. Barnabas Hospital, Monday, and is at his home, very comfortable, although not yet able to sit up, but is in good spirits and looking forward when he will be about on crutches.

Miss Edith M. Smith has had a door put in between the kitchen and piazza at her residence on Deering street and is having the cellar wall relaid under the kitchen. Windsor Chute and Frederick Walters are doing the work.

Sam Conner of the Lewiston Journal made us a pleasant call, Thursday. He was booked for an after dinner talk before the Kiwanis at I. O. O. F. Hall, South Paris.

LOVELL

Miss Lucy Elliott passed away last week at the home of her sister, Mrs. Nellie Chapman, where she has been kindly cared for by her sister for a year or more. She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Chapman and Alice Elliott, also a brother, John E., who she lived with until her health became so poorly they came to stay with their sister. Her age was about 54 years.

A man can be happy and live comfortable if he gets ten boosts to every knock.

THINK!

Think of the danger there is in a railroad man leaving his watch with some of these so-called watchmakers. Human life depends on the time keeping qualities of that watch.

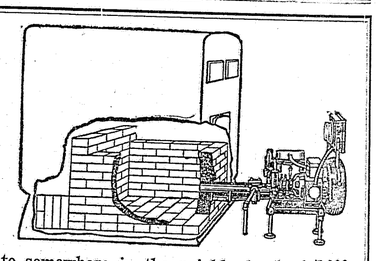
Who Tends The Furnace Anyway?



We've talked to somewhere in the neighborhood of 7,000 home owners. "Who tends your furnace anyway?" has always been one of our questions. But we've never made any friends by asking it.

Fathers simply have to admit that if they're earning enough to support the modern family, their time's too valuable to put in at stoking a furnace.

And after mother has read an advertisement for Pond's Two Creams or Jordan Play Boys she certainly is in no mood to mix with shovel or coal bin.

It takes just one sentence to dismiss the absurd idea of anyone's maid playing stoker.

And as long as football, ice skating and coasting are in vogue, there's precious little use in counting on help from the youthful members of the family.

That leaves the janitor; not to speak of his pay check.

He alone can afford to be liberal minded on the subject of coal—he doesn't pay for it.

You cannot hire men to do what Oil-O-Matic does for you. So any home owner who "puts up" with coal does so now only because he wants to. This modern method, proved for nearly seven years, is available to every home owner with any type of good heating plant.

Williams Oil-O-Matic is the oil burner Underwriters' Laboratories list as standard (no part inside the firebox).

A storage tank for oil is installed. Your oil dealer keeps it filled. The oil is drawn in automatically from this tank into the Oil-O-Matic.

Your Oil-O-Matic is connected to the front of your present furnace or boiler. No part goes inside.

It supplies oil as fuel in place of coal, so nebulized as to produce an intense, pure flame. Hotter than a great bed of red hot coals.

In your living room is a thermostat connected with the Oil-O-Matic downstairs. This automatically starts and stops the burner as the room temperature varies.

Simply set the indicator at the temperature you enjoy and forget you have a heating plant. Everything else is done automatically.

Oil-O-Matic will be your choice if you want everything that science

CROSS-WORD PUZZLE No. 73

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

Living Monuments

By Frederick Marshall Davis

Inscribed to Maurice Russell Davis

Summer came our way
Each one brighter day by day,
Spring to welcome in the fold,
Two years while we're growing old.
Flowers to greet me at the door,
Tender feet upon the floor,
Laughter, sunshine and the rain,
Finger marks upon the pane.
Golden curls with curls and waving hair
Caress and fondle with tender care,
Childish deeds, act and thought and deed,
Parents call in time of need,
Days of love to romp beneath the sun,
Days of work and learn as we have done,
Days of sorrow, perhaps to come and weep
Days of pain. "Tread softly, father's asleep."
Days of joy to manhood, young and strong,
Days of ranks and journeys on,
Days through road that are rough and blind
Where friends are few and hard to find.
Days here to toil, perhaps to gain,
Days the desert or the plain,
Perhaps a woodsman he may be,
Or one to sail the stormy sea.
Impulse, pure and free from sin,
A heart of gold that lies within,
A spirit true left in my stead,
A living monument when I'm dead.

Mrs. Rowe Called to Augusta—Lost 200 Chickens in One Night—Mud Drying

Mrs. Cora Rowe was recently called to Augusta by the critical illness of her husband, Elmer E. Rowe. Her daughter, Queenie, accompanied her from Mechanic Falls.

Will Jackson, who makes his home with the Rowes, was in Portland last week to get a mason to build the fireplace at the Trafton place for Mr. Naughton of New York. He is now at work building a fine home for one of the teachers at Bridgton.

Almon Rowe has traded his horses and has a new, good looking span from Andrews' sale stable. He is working at Camp Bendito for Phoebe Haskell.

Queenie Rowe has returned to her work at Mechanic Falls, after having a vacation of nearly five weeks, while Mrs. Smith has had her house painted and papered. While home she helped her mother paint and paper.

The mud is drying up in places so the cars get through without very much trouble.

Frank Stokes butchered a large hog for Almon Rowe, recently.

Earle Dresser had the misfortune to lose two hundred chickens one night.

Mrs. Cora Rowe has two hundred chicks from Red Feather Farm.

Joe Pitts has Camp Bendito horses in the barn, Almon Rowe cares for them.

Study of the Stars

Best Time to Locate Familiar Constellations

Now is a good time to begin the study of the stars. Ursa Major is probably the best known constellation and at this time is almost (a little northerly) over head at early evening.

Face north: Overhead find two second magnitude stars which are north and south of each other and forms one side of the dipper and they are nearly in line with another second magnitude star which is Polaris, the pole star, around which apparently all the other stars swing. The bowl of the dipper shaped group is open toward the north.

The two mentioned stars on the side are called "the pointers." On the opposite is the handle with an angle. At the union in the angle there is situated a double star called Miza, with a tiny star beside it which is a good test for the eye to separate and is called Alcor. These two stars are called "the Rider and his Horse."

About as far again as the dipper is from the pole star, but in almost a straight line with it and prolonged far down near the northern horizon is a "W" shaped group of stars in the constellation, call Cassiopeia. This W group, as a unit, with the dipper in Ursa Major as its opposite, apparently swings around the pole star in just one year. Of course the reason of this is the obital motion of the earth, but our daily revolution of the earth causes Cassiopeia to apparently change places with the dipper in twelve hours after, at the same hour, but in the morning, and we do not see it.

Now face South: High up from the horizon is another group of stars, the constellation Leo (the Lion). Part of this figure is recognized as being shaped like an interrogation mark with the bulge toward the east, and at the end of the stem is a bright first magnitude star called Regulus. From within the circle in Leo, meteors or shooting stars, radiate occasionally through the early Spring. East of this sickle shaped figure is a triangle. A second magnitude star, called Denebola, is at the apex of the triangle. To be acquainted with the above star regions is an incentive to learn more of the slowly drifting star panorama.

No one ever gets rich by the study of astronomy, but one studies for the love, attraction and fascination of the science. The earnest amateur can do useful work in estimating the magnitudes of variable stars through the periods of maximum and minimum brightness, which data is eagerly desired by professional astronomers and is the source of knowledge and a guide in determining the distances of stella depths.

How Can You Be a Better Friend of Your Neighbor

A Little Girl's Story

Now Naaman, captain of the Host of the King of Syria, was a great man, with his master and Honourable, because by him the Lord had given deliverance into Syria. He was also a mighty man in valour, but he was a leper, and the Syrians had gone out by companies and had brought away captive out of the land of Israel, a little maid, and she waited on Naaman's wife, and she said unto her mistress, "Would God, my Lord, were with the Prophet, that is in Samara, for he would recover him of his Leprosy." And one went in and told his Lord, saying thus and thus said the maid, "That is of the land of Israel," and the King of Syria said, "Go and I will send a letter," and he departed and took with him ten talents of silver and six thousand pieces of gold and ten changes of raiment.

So Naaman came with his horses and with his chariot and stood at the door of the House of Elisha, and Elisha sent a messenger unto him, saying, "Go and wash in Jordan seven times and thy flesh shall come again to thee and thou shalt be clean." But Naaman was wroth and said, "Behold, I thought He will surely come out to me and call me the name of the Lord his God and strike his hand over the place and recover the leper, are not Abana and Pharper, rivers of Damascus better than all the waters of Israel." So he turned and went away in a rage, and his servants came near and spake unto him and said, "My Father, if the prophet had bid thee do some great thing, wouldest thou not have done it?" Now much rather than when he saith to thee, "Wash and be clean?" Then went he down and dipped himself seven times in Jordan and his flesh came again like unto the flesh of a little child, and he was clean. Elisha did not charge Naaman a cent.—A. W. B.

Bryant Farm Changes

East Oxford, Me., George Paine and Wife Almira—Cucumbers and Profit, Also Local History from Harry Bryant

George R. Paine once lived in East Oxford and owned a farm. Thirty odd years ago he sold the place and moved with his family, to Baldwinsville, Mass., where he died. His widow continued the business of raising hot-house cucumbers. She has an Italian who has charge of the hot-house.

Last summer she visited the scenes of her early life and relatives in this vicinity. Although in her 85th year, she would easily have passed as a woman in the sixties. It is said she made a profit of $1,400.00 in the cucumber business the preceeding year. Her son is in the same business and lives in the same town. His business is much larger and is carried on independent of his mother's.

The above is the preface to the story we were to write. It was to speak of the changes of the old Paine Farm at East Oxford, since their leaving.

The farm was originally owned by Alanson Bryant, grandfather of Mrs. Paine. It came into the hands of her father who was Chas. H. Bryant, and Almira married George Paine, who came to it and operated until he sold the farm to John Robinson of Oxford for $1,800.00.

Mr. Robinson sold it to the Lovejoy boys of Hebron and was to have $2,200. They failed to pay and the farm went back to Mr. Robinson who again disposed of it to Joe Burnet of Norway or South Paris for $2,300.00.

This time the title passed. Mr. Burnet sold the place to McCann & Cook for $4,500.00. They were lumbermen and cut $5,500.00 worth of lumber from the place and sold the land to Shirley Bonney of Buckfield for $3,000.00, who sold it in due time to Winslow E. Gammon for $3,500.00. He lived on it for some years and prospered.

A year or so ago he sold the place to a Finn for $6,500.00 and moved into Oxford village where he is now living. He has been selectman of Oxford for several years while residing on the farm and since coming to the village.

The above is the story told your reporter by Harry Bryant of East Sumner, who is a descendant of the original Alanson Bryant, and is supposed to be correct.

Some critics might aptly be described as people who talk about one thing while thinking about another.

Weary Whittlers' Puzzle

Proposed by a Journalist and Dietitian From Far Off Paris, Across the Big Waters

26 rue d'Anjou, Paris.
25 April, 1926

The Editor, "The Advertiser":

Sir: Here is a puzzle for the Weary Club. It is too bad that they have nothing to do but whittle sticks. When they are tired of whittling, they may like to solve the puzzle.

The puzzle came originally from Chaldea, the cradle of the human race, and it is the best and oldest prescription in the world for conquering life. I assume that the Weary Club is made up of men who have, or think they have, no more worlds to conquer. They are Alexanders, and they would rather whittle a stick than do nothing. Well, I send them the oldest secret of the race to solve. It was known to Adam, to the Atlanteans, to the Egyptians, and it survives in Persia and India, among men more than one hundred years old, still full of vim, with good eyesight and muscles. It is the riddle of the Sphinx, for it is the secret of life. It is older than the Vedas.

The words of the prescription run in their proper sequence. It is only necessary to transpose the letters to get the words. I have given some of the words as a help. Those who think they have the solution must wait until the first of June when I will send the answer for publication. I leave France on the 11th May, in the biggest ship afloat, for beautiful California, where I intend to follow the prescription myself, and where I can dig in a garden all the year round. Very truly yours, Mary Forbes, Journalist and Dietitian.

In The Life Ray, by M. Levitt, published by the F. W. Daniel Co., Tudor Street, London, the author says, "As regards Wine, I cannot do better than quote Mary Forbes, a food specialist who has studied under medical direction in France and the Far East, and whose articles on Diet and Longevity created so much interest when published in the Saturday Review (English) in June-July, 1922."

In a letter of introduction to Lord Sware of Wortley, Marie Corelli writes thus: "She (Miss Forbes) knows some remarkable secrets of the brain and body. She was born and brought up in the East."

P. S.—The puzzle was too complicated for our type, hence if interested, it can be seen at the Advertiser Office.

William F. Jones, Judge

Walter P. Cullinan, Norway rural mail carrier and dealer in wood, was recently brought before the court for not having his horse drawn vehicle properly lighted. He did not contend and paid a fine of $10.00 and costs of $4.65. Harry O. Stimson was complainent and officer.

A VENERABLE TOM CAT HAS DEPARTED

Asa Packard's Thomas cat has given up his ninth life and is no more. Born at Nobles Corner, Norway, eighteen years ago the feline has enjoyed free life at the homestead and has lived to a ripe old age, as cat years are reckoned.

Thomas was a natural born hunter and roamed the woods and fields. He was a terror to rabbits, young woodchucks and coons, but had a wholesome respect for skunks and porcupine. He surely was wise in choosing his companions.

Weighing ten pounds in his stocking feet, the cat had weight to mix with the jungle instinct and "tiger" ability in his bouts. About home the domestic traits predominated and he proved a lovable companion for his master, who deeply regrets the passing of the venerable Tom.

Mrs. Fred S. Brown entertained a group of friends from Norway and South Paris, Thursday afternoon for lunch and an afternoon of bridge whist.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

The Norway Board of Trade will hold a meeting at Grange Hall, Friday evening, May 14. A banquet will be served at 6:30 with a business session to follow.

An address will be given by H. E. Dunnack, State Librarian at Augusta, subject "The Economic Re-Birth of Maine". A large turn out is expected for Mr. Dunnack is an eloquent and forceful speaker.

Mrs. C. L. Bachelder has returned to her home in Canada after spending the winter with her son, G. M. Bachelder of Hazelhurst Farm.

Kenneth Gurney, who has been stopping with his sister, Mrs. C. H. Downing, has gone to his summer home at East Stoneham. Kenney's health is improving and he is planning on doing some guiding at Brown's Camps.

Reading of Daylight Saving

Dear Sir: After reading Mr. Haskell's also Mr. Leavitt's article in regard to Daylight Saving, I could not resist the temptation to write a few lines on this same subject.

Now, I hink if the people in shops, mills etc., want to start work at six o'clock, let them do it, but let the clocks alone. Why can't they go to work at six and call it six, just as well as to set the clocks and call it seven? Also, in changing time in this way, don't bring home the cows from pasture an hour earlier for the farmer. I never saw any hens yet that understood they should go to roost any earlier on this account.

If this was something that was to change the moon, stars, and several other things, I think that would make some difference, but I think it better be let alone as it is.—Mrs. Alma Whitman, West Paris, Route 2, Me.

Devices of His Satanic Majesty

This bit of history is quoted in "Railroad Men" from remarks made by the Rev. Fred Eastman of the Presbyterian Board:

"It has been less than 100 years since a school board in Ohio passed this resolution addressed to some young men:

"'You are welcome to use the schoolhouse to debate all proper questions in. But such things as railroads and telegraphs are impossible and rank infidelity. There is nothing in the Word of God about them. If God had designed that His intelligent creatures should travel at the frightful speed of 15 miles an hour by steam, He would have foretold it by the mouth of His holy prophets. It is a device of Satan to carry the souls of the faithful down to hell.'"

Milk, the Perfect Food

One of a Series of Articles on Home Economics

Why should we use milk? Why should each child have a quart a day and each adult a pint? Milk is called the perfect food for it contains all the elements essential for the growth of a human being. However, these elements are not present in the proper proportions. The protein substance for tissue building are of the best. The fat is present in tiny soft particles which rise to the top as cream, and "melt in the mouth." It is especially easy to digest. The salts present in milk are of great value. Calcium and phosphorus which are necessary for building and keeping the teeth and bones, appear in large quantities. Iron, the essential constituent of the blood, is present in a small amount, but in very usable shape. All three vitamines which are essential to growth and development are found to be present.

McCollum, an authority on vitamines, advocates the general adoption of a dietary standard calling for a quart of milk per capita per day. This amount does not have to be drunk, but may be used in or on solid food and in cooking.

Clean milk is milk from healthy cows, free from dirt, containing only a small amount of bacteria, none of which are disease producing, milk which contains visible dirt or more than a certain number of bacteria may be forbidden for sale. As in the case of New York City, a maximum temperature may be prescribed on the ground that bacteria multiply so rapidly as to make it a "decomposed substance" if not a menace to health. These sanitary and bacteriological standards are becoming stabilized and are playing an important part in steady improvement of a sanitary milk supply. It is the duty of the housewife as a safeguard to the health of her family, to investigate the conditions of the place from where she obtains her milk. The conditions not only of producing, but of handling, must be kept as clean as possible. It is cheaper to pay a little more for a quart of milk and know that it has been handled under sanitary conditions, than to pay less and have a disease in the family, requiring medical attending. Disease germs find excellent food for growth in unclean milk.

Heating of milk: Pasteurization is a process of heating milk to kill any disease germs that may be present. This is done by large commercial firms, but is usually unnecessary in the home. In fact, milk should be purchased from conditions that do not necessitate this process.

Cream of Potato Soup

6 potatoes (2 cups mashed potato)
4 cups scalded milk
1 large onion
2½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon celery salt
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons fat

Cook the potatoes, eat the milk with onion. Mash potatoes fine, and slowly add the hot milk from which onion has been removed. Season. Cook soup for five minutes, pour through strainer, heat again. Serve.

Cream of Tomato Soup

½ can tomatoes
2 teaspoons sugar
¼ teaspoon soda
1 qt. milk
1-3 cup butter
1 slice onion
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Scald milk with onion. Thicken with flour. Cook 20 minutes in double boiler. Cook tomatoes with sugar 15 minutes. Add soda, rub through sieve. Add tomato to milk. Season.

Blanc-Mange

1-3 cup Irish moss
4 cups milk
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Soak moss 15 minutes in cold water. Add to milk. Cook in double boiler 30 minutes. Milk seems but little thickened, if cooked longer will be too stiff. Add salt, flavor. Put in molds. Chill. Serve with sugar and cream. This may be served with bananas, figs, other fruits. Because this is light and nourishing, it has been found to be good for invalids.

Junket

1 junket tablet
1 qt. milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
Salt

Dissolve the tablet in two tablespoons of cold milk. Beat the remainder of the milk and sugar, stirring constantly until just lukewarm. If too warm, the junket will not set. Add flavoring, then dissolved junket, mix thoroughly. Pour into dishes. Let stand at room temperature until set, then chill. Many variations may be in this, some for example, caramel, chocolate.

Newspaper Publicity

Mellie Dunham Made by the Papers. Not Fiddling, but Front Page Stories Did It.

A decently good editor largely successful with his paper which is filled to overflowing with advertising writes this paper, viz:

I have just been going over your "Mellie-Grams" and have once more been impressed with the power of advertising. Who would ever have thought, a few years ago, that the Maine snow shoe maker would be fiddling his way across the continent, and all because his name has been blazened in public print from one end of the country to the other, and all that for no better reason than that Henry Ford, one of the country's biggest advertisers and one of the most talked-of men wanted to hear him fiddle.

I don't suppose that Mellie Dunham can fiddle any better than 10,000 other country fiddlers, scattered from Maine to California; but he has been advertised.

I thought of the same thing, the other night, when, in the movies, were presented a lot of faces that certainly were not angelic. But they were base ball players somewhere down in Florida, running around in a circle and tossing a ball one to the other. Surely not a marvelous sight. But their names were familiar because the newspapers were talking about them.

I suppose base ball and football would drop dead if they lost the first pages of the daily press for a few months.

The small boys on the street have their favorite players and watch their stunts every day, when they never saw the player and probably never will. Such is the power of publicity, when it comes to one through the newspapers.

I presume, that if in some way Henry Ford could know you were an expert whittler of a stick, and should send to you to come to Detroit so that he and you could together go sit in his office and whittle your respective pieces of pine, that ere long you might be touring the country and whittling sticks for the edification of the open mouthed millions who would watch with pride and deep emotion."

"Comedy of Errors"

In the Removal of Sheriff Cummings

State Highway Police, headed by Chief Arthur H. Field, and armed with sledge hammers and pickaxes, stormed the Kennebec County Jail last Saturday and upon the refusal of the sheriff, who had been elected by the people and ordered removed by the governor, to allow them to enter, broke down the doors of the jail and swarmed through the institution much after the fashion of the mob of rioters during the Gordon riots. The elected sheriff and his deputies were ousted from the jail and the newly appointed official, John M. Eastman, of Benton, was thus inducted into office. This entire affair has been a "Comedy of Errors" from its earliest inception. Sheriff Henry Cummings made the first great error, when he filed a petition for a guardian for one LeBar, a young man of Augusta, who was spending his money in riotous living. This precipitated the move for the removal of Sheriff Cummings, the plans being laid by LeBar's attorneys. Gov. Brewster made the next great error, when he walked into the man trap which had been set for him by these Augusta lawyers and after he was once inside the trap he had no choice but to go through with the investigation, which resulted in the removal of Sheriff Cummings and the appointment of Eastman in his place. Cummings refused to leave the jail and acting apparently on the advice of Gov. Brewster, Eastman filed a written request with the chief of the highway police for aid, in spite of the fact that Augusta has a well organized police department and his own. The chief of police or any other man or group of men is not in duty bound to heed any such call when it is evident that the sheriff is asking him to do a thing which is plainly illegal. Gov. Brewster's authority and his responsibility in this matter ceased when he signed the commission of John M. Eastman as sheriff. It was then up to Sheriff Eastman to assume his duties. If he could do so amicably and could take control of the jail without undue force well and good. If not it was his duty to appeal to the courts for some legal process which would give him the authority to take possession of the jail whether or no. Our knowledge of this whole affair is gleaned from reading of the newspaper reports of the riot which took place at Augusta, Saturday—for it was nothing short of a riot in which mob rule prevailed on the part of those who are supposed to be clothed with executive powers. We have no way of knowing just what orders Chief Field received from his superior officers, but even so, he has been engaged in work of this sort so long that he should have had more judgment than to employ the methods which he did, even though he had received direct orders so to do. The affair has assumed a serious aspect and the entire proceedings will be sifted by the courts. The people of the state of Maine will not stand for these high handed methods. Chief Field should be removed from office immediately and the entire force should be reorganized. He has proved himself as absolutely not fitted for the responsible office which he holds.

Lubricoat Insurance for your motor by the Veteran Motorist

TWO metallic bearing surfaces rubbed together dry will generate friction and heat and will wear rapidly. This absorbs power. A coat of the right oil between two such surfaces will form a cushion, reduce friction and heat and will prevent wear.

Piston and rings must be made smaller than the cylinder in order to run without sticking. This slight clearance between piston rings and cylinder walls allows leakage. A coat of the right oil between rings and cylinder wall will form a gas seal to prevent lost compression and power.

The right oil for the lubrication of the motor is a heat-resisting, uniform quality oil that will form a coat highly adhesive to the metallic surfaces and will constantly maintain that coat under all service conditions.

Socony Motor Oils will *lubri-coat these bearing surfaces.

The SIGN of SOCONY Guarantees Motor Oils That:
1. LubriCOAT and cushion every part
2 Increase compression and power
3. Resist high motor temperatures
4. Maintain uniform quality
5. Are found throughout Soconyland.

*LUBRI-COAT: To cover, as with an impenetrable coat of oil, all moving and frictional parts of a motor car engine; best done with the proper grade of Socony Motor Oil.

HOW well do you know how to take care of your motor? What do you know about oil? The Standard Oil Company of New York has commissioned The Veteran Motorist to preach the gospel of good oil these many years.

Now he wants to see how much he has helped motorists throughout Soconyland. To learn how much the average driver knows about his motor, the Standard Oil Company of New York will award $2,500 to the 79 contestants who write him the best answers to five questions, the first of which is given in this advertisement.

Watch for the next Standard Oil of New York advertisement to see Question 2. It will appear in this paper two weeks from to-day.

Win one of the large awards. Be one of the "Lucky 79."

The AWARDS

1st award	$1,000
2nd award	500
3rd award	250
2 awards of	100 each
4 awards of	25 each
20 awards of	10 each
50 awards of	5 each
79 awards totalling	$2,500

Rules of the Contest

Any one may compete in this contest, except those connected directly or indirectly with the Standard Oil Company of New York.

The answers to the five questions may be typewritten or written with pen and ink—one side of the paper only—one answer to each question.

No single answer may be longer than 150 words, and each answer must be numbered to match the number of the question. All answers must be written in the English language, and are property of the Standard Oil Company of New York.

All five answers should be sent in together and the contestant's name and address should be plainly written on the first page of answers.

No answers will be considered which are received later than Saturday, July 17th, 1926. The awards will be made to those who write the BEST answers to the five questions. That is, those whose answers, in the opinion of the judges, indicate that they have given most thought to the subjects covered by the questions and have learned most from The Veteran Motorist's instructions in the Standard Oil Company of New York's advertisements.

Address all answers to "The Veteran Motorist," c/o Standard Oil Company of New York, Room 411, 26 Broadway, New York City.

Here is Question 1

"What is the principle of Lubricoating? How does the consistent use of Socony Motor Oil carry out this principle?"

Lesson for May 16

ABRAHAM AND THE STRANGERS

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 18:1-19.

GOLDEN TEXT—All nations of the earth shall be blessed indeed.—Gen. 18:18.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Abraham Is Kind to Strangers

JUNIOR TOPIC—Abraham Welcomes Three Strangers.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Abraham's Hospitality.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Why God Chose Abraham.

I. The Lord Appeared to Abraham (vv. 1-8).

While Abraham sat in his tent door, he lifted up his eyes and lo, three men stood by him. His reception of these three men is a beautiful picture of oriental hospitality. These beings, while called men are also called angels (see 19:1). When the men arose to depart, Abraham according to custom, accompanied his guests some distance on the way. One of the men was the angel of Jehovah, or Jehovah manifest in human form. The Jehovah angel remained behind to commune with Abraham. This is clear from the fact that three started out—one talked with Abraham and only two entered Sodom (see 18:22 and 19:1).

II. God's Promise to Abraham Reaffirmed (vv. 9-15).

The Lord communed with him about his personal interests, showing how Sarah should have a son in her old age, according to the covenant promise. This conversation being overheard by Sarah from her place in the tent only provoked laughter on her part. Although she thus expressed unbelief, it doubtless was a great comfort to Abraham who had been awaiting the fulfillment of the promise for years. "Is anything too hard for the Lord?" is a striking rebuke to Sarah's unbelief, and shows that the Lord is able to discern even our inmost thoughts.

III. The Doom of Sodom and Gomorrah Revealed to Abraham (vv. 16-21).

The Lord now communed with Abraham about Sodom and Gomorrah. Though Abraham had no personal interest in Sodom, the Lord revealed unto him His secret purpose concerning it. He did not hunt up Lot to make known unto him his purpose concerning Sodom. He never goes to the persons who are entangled with the things of the world. The only way to know God's thought touching the age in which we live is to remain separate from it. "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear Him." (Ps. 25:15). The reason for this disclosure may be stated as follows:

1. Because he was his friend (Jas. 5:23; John 15:15). Friends confide in each other. The master reveals his purposes to his friends, not to his servants.

2. Because he was to be the head of a great nation (v. 18).

As such he was to be the medium of blessings to them. The interests of humanity were at stake in the destruction of Sodom. It was good that Abraham should know that he might be able to instruct coming generations.

3. Because of the responsibility of instructing his own family aright (v. 19). God is always careful that His judgments have a rational explanation, serving to deter others from the same sin. The Lord declared that His purpose was to go down and see whether the Sodomites had done according to the cry which had come up from it (v. 21).

IV. Abraham's Intercession for Sodom and Gomorrah (vv. 22-23).

The two men departed for Sodom, leaving Abraham alone in the presence of the Lord. He stood there as an intercessor. In this unselfish act Abraham represents our High Priest (Heb. 7:23-28; Rom. 8:34; I John 2:1). Jesus possesses the divine right to stand before the Father. Abraham made his plea on the ground of justice to the righteous who might be in the city. Because of the infinite sacrifice which Christ made by His blood for our sins, He can plead our cause before God on the ground of strict justice. He ventured his plea six times, each time diminishing the number. We should learn from this that petitions granted give encouragement to ask for others. Abraham's power as an intercessor was limited. He was afraid of overdrawing his account with the Lord. This is not the case with our High Priest. His credit and influence with the Father are infinite. He is able to save unto the uttermost those who come unto God by Him, seeing He ever liveth to make intercession for them (Heb. 7:25).

DEPARTMENT TO ASSIST FARMERS TO SECURE MACHINERY REPAIRS

Commissioner Washburn of the Maine Department of Agriculture announces that his Department is now prepared to assist the farmers of the State in securing repairs for farm machines that have become disabled through the wearing or breaking of some part of piece, it frequently happens that some otherwise valuable machine is rendered entirely useless because of a small break. Manufacturers' names and locations are lost or unknown and in many instances their business has passed into the hands of other concerns.

The Department of Agriculture has for several months been collecting information along this line and a long list is now on hand of machines, new and old, with the present name and location of the company that manufactures parts therefor. The Department will not act as purchaser, but will undertake to put any farmer in touch with the proper company to supply the particular repairs needed and to inform him in case no repairs are to be had.

Farmers are urged to write the Department of Agriculture at Augusta, stating their needs and while it is not hoped to make the service infallible, every possible assistance will be rendered.

BREADS AND BISCUITS AS 3 EXPERT COOKS MAKE THEM

(Ed. Note: This is one of a series of articles on cooking which 6 famous cooks are contributing to this paper.)

Bread can be much more than the uninteresting, prosaic "staff of life." It can be made so delicious that you eat it because you want to, not because you think you ought to.

MRS. SARAH T. RORER

Famous cooks have unearthed many delicious bread and biscuit recipes from various parts of the country for you. Follow their recipes for pleasing variety in breads.

Easy Bran Muffins

Mrs. Rorer, the Philadelphia cooking expert, recommends her bran muffins for breakfast. "They are very nutritious and healthful," she says. "One might paraphrase the old saying into 'a bran muffin a day keeps the doctor away.' It would hold just as true.

"These muffins are easily made," she affirms. "Beat one egg, add a cup of milk, a half teaspoon salt, one tablespoonful sugar, and one tablespoonful melted butter. Sift one cupful flour with three level teaspoons baking powder, and bake in a hot oven, in greased gem pans for 20 minutes."

Nuts for Nourishment

Mrs. Rorer has a very appetizing and nourishing nut bread, too. Here's how to make it:

Chop enough pecans to make a half cupful. Put two cupfuls flour in a bowl, add four level teaspoons of baking powder, half a teaspoon salt, and two tablespoonfuls of sugar, and sift. Mix in the nuts. Beat one egg, add one cupful of milk, mix and add the flour. Beat well, and turn at once into a greased bread pan.

Let stand 10 minutes. Light oven 3 minutes before bread is light. Bake half an hour at medium heat. Raisins may be substituted for nuts.

Nut bread makes very good sandwiches if spread with butter. Cream cheese may also be used for a simple, delicious filling.

Southern Corn Bread

Corn bread, that favorite of the South, is another nutritious change from the every-day white bread. Made with the recipe of Miss Rosa Michaelis, famous New Orleans cook, it's a welcome part of any meal.

Here are the ingredients:

½ cup of sugar
4 cups cornmeal
1½ teaspoons salt
8 eggs
2 tablespoonfuls baking powder
1½ tablespoonfuls shortening
2 cups water (or milk, or the two mixed)

Sift corn meal, salt, sugar, and baking powder together. Add water or milk. Add yolks of eggs and shortening which has been heated. Add stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Put into a hot greased pan, and bake in hot oven. This can be served with butter or with syrup.

Real Beaten Biscuits

If you have a patient right arm, you are bound to make successful beaten biscuits. This is another old southern recipe of Miss Michaelis'.

1 quart flour
1½ teaspoons of lard
1 pint of milk
1 teasnoon salt

Sift dry ingredients. Then add the shortening and blend by using the fingers—rub until smooth; add gradually the liquid and knead all together till the dough is formed. Should be a rather stiff dough. Then lay the dough on a biscuit board and beat with rolling pin half an hour. Knead lightly and beat again for ten minutes, till air bubbles form all over the dough. Then roll out and cut with cutter in any shape and stick top here and there with fork. Bake in moderate oven about fifteen minutes or till top and bottom are a light brown.

Use Oranges

Orange muffins are just the thing for breakfast. Toasted, they are delicious to serve with afternoon tea. Mrs. Belle DeGraf, San Francisco, formerly with the Pacific Coast Branch of the New York Cooking School, gives this delectable recipe:

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup orange juice
Grated rind of one orange

Beat eggs and add liquid. Sift and combine dry ingredients. Add melted shortening and first mixture. Bake in greased muffin pans, in moderate oven about 20 minutes.

You may serve a different bread or biscuit every meal. These recipes are especially helpful to women with the lunch problem, as different sandwich fillings may be used with all but the beaten biscuit with good results.

(Watch for next week's special cooking article on this page.)

Much Ventilation

One manufacturer is selling an efficient oven with 108 holes. These holes provide perfect air circulation and carry away all surplus moisture and all odors. This oven is especially made for oil stoves.

Baking Hint

The oven should always be preheated a few minutes before biscuits are put in. They require fast baking.

For Oil Stove Users

Women who cook with oil will appreciate one of the newer oil stove models with a reversible, easily filled glass reservoir. The hands do not come in contact with the kerosene at all.

SUMNER

Upon April 7, 1925, Lovell Chandler made the first trip for the season with a car through the green woods, when Mr. and Mrs. Chandler spent the day at Worthley Pond with Mrs. Chandler's mother. May 6, 1926, a party consisting of Donald Varney, Irving Bartlett, Charlie Farrar, Jerry Bartlett, Olphy Varney and Lionel Bartlett made a short call upon Earl Howard with Donald Varney's truck, this being the first trip through the green woods this spring, and only lacking one day of being one month later in the season than Mr. Chandler's trip last year. Who is going to predict the date for the first car over this route for the spring of 1927?

Mrs. Elva Farrar had a birthday party Wednesday, May 5. There were present as guests Mrs. Alice Redding, Mrs. Florence Abbott, Mrs. Grace Dyer, Mrs. Letty Ford, Mrs. Corry Bonney and daughter, Helen, and Mrs. Hattie Curtis and daughter.

The children of the Morrill school gave their teacher a surprise party upon her birthday, Friday, the 7th.

Donald Varney went to Rumford on business with his truck, Friday. For company he took along Irving Bartlett, Olphy Varney, Jerry Bartlett and Charlie Farrar.

Mrs. J. R. Dyer and son, Thomas, were guests of relatives, Sunday.

Donald Varney has purchased a new Ford touring car.

Mrs. Hattie Bartlett was in Rumford, Friday and Saturday.

John Blouin is moving from the Sturtevant house, so called, to Hartford.

Willis Ames and son, Alton, of South Paris, were guests in town, Sunday. They report the roads in fair condition.

Frank Verrill of Mechanic Falls was in this vicinity, Sunday.

What 30 Years of Cooking taught Mrs. Rorer about Stoves

By MRS. SARAH TYSON RORER
Philadelphia Cooking Expert

"I PREFER oil stoves to any other kind. I speak from the fullness of 30 years' experience with them. Oil is clean, economical, and dependable. It saves a world of work. No coal or wood to carry in, no ashes to carry out. And no dust.

"I have just completed a special experiment on the 1926 model Perfection Oil Stove, testing it under all possible cooking conditions. I cooked many meals in my own kitchen. Every dish was deliciously cooked.

Immediate Cooking

"Steak began to broil and my molasses cake began to rise almost as soon as I lighted the burners. There was no waiting for the heat to 'come up.'

"The bottom of every utensil used in the experiment was as clean as a china dish. No scouring was necessary. Those long Perfection chimneys certainly are insurance against sooty kettles.

All at the Same Time

"I cooked many things at once. For boiling beef I used a very low flame. I French-fried potatoes over a hot flame with yellow tips about 1½ inches high above the blue area. I cooked white sauce over a medium flame.

"I used all grades of heat at the same time satisfactorily. All flames remained steady and even. They did not creep or 'crawl.' This is a real blessing to the cook. She can forget her stove and keep her mind on her cooking.

"Very Well Satisfied"

"Altogether I was very well satisfied with the Perfection Stove. And, my good opinion of oil stoves has increased, if that is possible."

4,500,000 In Use

The other five famous cooks were enthusiastic about the 1926 Perfection, too. And every day 4,500,000 women get real cooking satisfaction from their Perfections. You, too, will get the most cooking satisfaction the year around when you cook on the latest model Perfection.

See the complete line at any dealer's today. All sizes, from a one-burner model at $6.75 to a large, five-burner range at $120.00.

BRIDGTON

Chapman Convert on May 18—Village Preparing for Summer Business—New Business Block—Welcome Dance—Golf Links Being Put in Shape.

The Chapman Concert, the date of which has been pending for several weeks, has finally been scheduled for Tuesday evening, May 18, at the Methodist Church. Miss Beatrice Belkin, soprano; and Mr. Benno Rabinoff, violinist; both New York artists, are to be on the program and an evening of most delightful entertainment is assured. The town of Bridgton is certainly not behind the times in the matter of music, when it can present an evening's entertainment of this kind.

Mothers' Day was fittingly observed in the Bridgton churches, Sunday, with appropriate services.

Many of the stores in town are getting ready for the summer's business by making interior alterations, re-decorating, etc. while many of the residences are receiving new coats of paint, and in many cases there are exterior improvements, such as piazzas and porches. Several new houses are going up at present, among them being one by Albert Cole, on Pleasant St., one by Vernon Douglass on Elm St., and one by Philip Weary on the Fryeburg road.

A new business block is to be erected on the site of the present building, occupied by the E. J. Stiles & Son Plumbing Co., which will be large enough for two business houses one of which will be occupied by the E. J. Stiles Co. It is understood that the present building will be transferred to the rear of the new block and used as a storehouse.

A Welcome Dance to "Norton's Maine Band" will be held at the Opera House, Friday evening. A splendid program of old and new dances will be the order of the evening and the music will be of the best. "Norton's Band" has just returned from a successful season at Alamonte Springs, Florida, and this is its first appearance since arriving.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Shorey, Jr., and family, and Dr. and Mrs. Richard C. March and family, spent Sunday at Dunstan, with Mr. and Mrs. Leon March of Portland, in observance of Mr. March's birthday and Mothers' Day.

Mrs. Lotta Pike, who recently purchased the Stonleigh property at the head of Highland Lake, from Alec Lightfoot, is making preparations to open the place as a summer hotel this season. She will make extensive alterations and improvements in the property.

A large crew of men are at present working on the golf links, to get them prepared for early playing. The links are being very much enlarged and otherwise improved.

BRIDGTON

Chapman Concert on May 18—Village Preparing for Summer Business—New Business Block—Welcome Dance—Golf Links Being Put in Shape.

The Chapman Concert, the date of which has been pending for several weeks, has finally been scheduled for Tuesday evening, May 18, at the Methodist Church. Miss Florence Belkin, soprano; and Mr. Boris Roubanoff, violinist; both New York artists, are to be on the program and an evening of most delightful entertainment is assured. The town of Bridgton is certainly not behind the times in the matter of music when it can present an evening's entertainment of this kind.

Mothers' Day was fittingly observed in the Bridgton churches, Sunday, with appropriate services.

Many of the stores in town are getting ready for the summer's business by making interior alterations, re-decorating, etc. while many of the residences are receiving new coats of paint, and in many cases there are exterior improvements, such as piazzas and porches. Several new houses are going up at present, among them being one by Albert Cole, on Pleasant St., one by Vernon Douglass on Elm Street and one by Philip Weary on the Fryeburg road.

A new business block is to be erected on the site of the present building, occupied by the E. J. Stiles & Son Plumbing Co., which will be large enough for two business houses one of which will be occupied by the E. J. Stiles Co. It is understood that the present building will be transferred to the rear of the new block and used as a storehouse.

A Welcome Dance to "Norton's Maine Band" will be held at the Opera House, Friday evening. A splendid program of old and new dances will be the order of the evening and the music will be of the best. "Norton's Band" has just returned from a successful season at Alamosa Springs, Florida, and this is its first appearance since arriving.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Shorey, Jr., and family, and Dr. and Mrs. Richard C. March and family, spent Sunday at Dunstan, with Mr. and Mrs. Leon March of Portland, in observance of Mr. March's birthday and Mothers' Day.

Mrs. Lotta Pike, who recently purchased the Stoneigh property at the head of Highland Lake, from Alec Lightfoot, is making preparations to open the place as a summer hotel this season. She will make extensive alterations and improvements in the property.

A large crew of men are at present working on the golf links, to get them prepared for early playing. The links are being very much enlarged and otherwise improved.

Child Health Week—Doughty Farm Sold—West Paris People Attended Lectures at Norway and South Paris.

Child Health Week was well observed here with a lecture in the Grange Hall, Saturday afternoon by Dr. Goodrich of Lewiston, in which he told about the state health work and how it is carried on and the various lines of work sanitation. After the lecture some questions were asked and answered by him. Monday evening, Miss Bryant gave an illustrated health lecture at the schoolhouse about the care of the teeth and food properties, both of these were given by the State Health Department and were very instructive and helpful.

At the Grange, Saturday, a piano solo was given by Mary Patch and a health song by two little girls, Mary Abbott and Pauline Young, who also sang for a motion song for encore. Monday evening after the motion picture lecture, the Parent-Teacher Association served ice cream.

Two adults so far have had the measles. Mrs. Mary Mixer and Mrs. Annie Herrick and both have been very sick, but pulled through and now are on the gain.

Harry Patch has had a relapse of the grip. Mrs. Anna Perkins cared for him a day and night.

Mr. Koranen, the Finnish storekeeper, has moved his family from Cummings' Block to Trap Corner.

A drama is having rehearsals for the benefit of the Alumni. They hope to be able to put it on by the 20th.

Hollis Doughty and family have moved his family into the house on Pioneer St., recently purchased of O. G. Swan. Mr. Doughty has sold his farm, known as the Berry farm, to Earl Trewörgy.

Mrs. Carrie Flavin spent a few days in Portland.

The Good Will Society of the Universalist Church will hold their May sale, Wednesday afternoon, May 19. A nice line of fancy articles, aprons, food, plants and a variety of other things will be on sale. An entertainment will be given in the evening.

A number from here attended Margaret Slattery's lecture at Norway last week and there were some who attended MacMillan's lecture at South Paris.

Bert Day is feeling poorly. Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Ring of Locke's Mills recently visited him and Mrs. Day.

Allie E. Marshall of Portland visited elatives and friends a few days last week.

Maine Has Radio Minister

Rev. Howard O. Hough First Radio Minister in the United States

One of the greatest advertisements for Maine is the fact that it has the first radio minister in the United States, Rev. Howard O. Hough was installed four weeks ago and hold services every Sunday. Mr. Hough has been broadcasting for several months and his sermons have been most highly commended.

Mr. Hough has a most pleasing voice, a wonder flow of language and his main object is to be of service and administer comfort to those unable to attend church service.

Judging from the wonderful letters received daily by Mr. Hough he is surely achieving his object in every sense of the word. Mr. Hough has thus far been favored by having volunteer singers to assist him in his wonderful work. He certainly needs encouragement and financial assistance to aid him in this wonderful enterprise which he has undertaken and which can truly be called a "labor of love". Mr. Hough's sermon two weeks ago from the text, "Out of the Ashes" was a masterpiece, and he received many encomiums regarding same. Mr. Hough is a young man only twenty-seven years old, married and has two children.

Every Year More Growers Use
Niagara
DUSTS and DUSTERS
Because Dust Users Are Getting Results

They find that dusting the Niagara way offers the simplest, most economical, and most effective method of protecting fruit and crops from the ravages of insects and diseases.

Dusting the Niagara Way Means

1—That growers are dusting with accurate long-lived equipment made especially for the purpose—Machines that have been developed to sturdy perfection by years of actual commercial use plus years of constant study to make them able to meet any condition under which dusting machines must operate.

2—That growers are dusting with perfected dusts—The name Niagara on insecticides and fungicides is recognized everywhere as a mark and guarantee of quality.

3—That growers are dusting with the constant co-operation of Niagara trained men—Experts who work hand in hand with the grower to insure that both Niagara Machines and Materials produce clean crops.

Come in and talk with us today
It will pay you, too, to Dust the Niagara Way

High School News, Week of May 3rd

The father and son banquet has been indefinitely postponed.

The baseball team travels to Mexico on Monday to play off the game postponed from May 1. No other game is scheduled for next week.

The boys from the agriculture department appreciated the interest of the A. W. Walker & Co. annual dinner, on Wednesday. The boys of the freshman group were very fortunate to listen to a talk by Frank Goldsmith on the planting of sweet corn.

Miss Irving was a judge at a speaking contest at Hebron Academy on Monday evening.

Miss Manser spent the week end with her parents at Auburn.

Rev. Olin Tracy spoke to the senior high school at the Monday morning assembly.

Barbara Beede and Ella Churchill furnished a piano duet at the Monday morning assembly.

Half the members of the English Club gave a "Backward" program Monday night. It was conducted by the conclusion being given first and the introduction last. Selections were read backward for the members to guess the titles and give the authors. This is one program from a contest which is now taking place. After the completion of the two programs, the winning side is to be entertained by the losers.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Chandler and son, Robert, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Emery, all of Mexico, were visiting relatives here, Monday.

A large number from Mount Hope Lodge of Norway, and some visitors from other lodges, attended the special meeting of Mount Pleasant Rebekah Lodge, Wednesday evening, May 5. Supper was served at 6:30 and there was degree work. Mrs. Pearl W. Stimson of Portland, vice president of the Rebekah Assembly of Maine, was here for her official visitation to Mount Pleasant Lodge.

The contest supper at the Baptist church served by the W. D. T. Class, Mrs. Eva Titus, teacher, on Thursday evening, developed into a kitchen shower for Miss Flora Murch. This was a complete surprise for the guest of honor, and the evening was greatly enjoyed.

Shaw's orchestra plays for dances every Friday night at Mechanic Falls. From now on the time is at 8:30, daylight saving.

John Wight has opened his shop on Pine street and is sharpening lawn mowers.

George Davis and William Kneeland are employed as caretakers of Riverside cemetery and are putting the lots and flower beds into condition for summer.

Andover Man Killed

Auto Skidded in Sand and Overturned

Percy Dean, 27, was instantly killed Tuesday afternoon when the car in which he was riding skidded in the sand on the Rumford road four miles from Andover and overturned. Russell Wensel, 32, the driver of the car, sustained an injured hand while the other occupants, Mrs. Hattie Akers, 50, and her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Parsons, 25, were badly shaken up. According to reports, Wensel was on his way to Rumford enroute to Boston and was speeding. The car was said to have struck sand and as it swerved, Dean grapped the wheel and the car skidded into the ditch and overturned twice. Medical Examiner Thibodeau of Rumford was summoned and after an examination pronounced death due to a broken neck. Mr. Dean came to Andover two years ago from Nova Scotia and has been stopping at the Hotel Milton. During the winter he was employed in the woods and in the summer months operated a taxi.

FRYEBURG CENTER AND MENOTOMY

P. C. Dennett and J. W. Goldthwaite went to Brownfield, Monday.

Arthur Wiley carried his uncle Charles to North Chatham to spend the week end with his sisters and brother.

John Goldthwaite has been working for Clarence Osgood the past week.

Earl Osgood, wife and baby, are spending two weeks' vacation at his parental home; he will then start on his new position with the N. E. M. P. Association.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stearns are preparing to move back to their summer home.

Wendell Osgood has sold his car to his brother, Earl.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Bell are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby girl.

BRIDGTON ACADEMY

The Bridgton Academy track team will leave on Friday for Durham, N. H., and compete on Saturday in the New Hampshire State Interscholastic Meet. The age limit ruling of twenty-one will make some difference in Coach Sampson's squad as several of his men will be ineligible for this meet. As there is no time limit as to the number of days a student has been in school, it will be possible for several more of his men, who were not taken to Orono last Saturday to go to New Hampshire.

There is no game scheduled for this coming Saturday, but next week sees the beginning of a hard, long line of games, with a return game at Hebron on Tuesday; Wednesday, Bowdoin second at Brunswick; Saturday, Kent's Hill at North Bridgton.

NORWAY CENTER

Rev. O. B. Tracy will preach at the Center Church, Sunday, at 1:30. Sunday school will be held at 12:00.

Flattery never bothers some people. They never get it.

NORWAY VICINITY

Miss Elizabeth Hall, Norway who is a sophomore at Bates College, recently was chosen a member of her class soccer team. Soccer is one of the most popular spring sports at the college, and the interclass competitions are both exciting and well attended.

Miss Edith M. Smith entertained her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Smith of East Deering and her aunt, Miss Georgie Walker of Norway, at her home on Deering street over the week end.

Oliver Buck of Hebron was brought to Norway, Tuesday evening suffering with a compound fracture of the left leg above the ankle. The accident was caused by a fall from his wagon. Dr. C. W. Nelson rendered first aid and ordered the patient removed to the Central Maine General hospital. He was carried there in Spiller's ambulance late Tuesday evening.

Herman Mason of Bethel was in town Tuesday evening attending the district meeting of Odd Fellows.

Leroy Spiller: "I want to buy some pigs. Will have a pen on my back lot and expect to raise a lot of squeals and make money. Two hives of bees will be added to my farming utilities for everybody wants honey."

C. R. Mills, editor of the "Fryeburg Fliver" called at this office, Wednesday. He was introducing illuminated electric signs and left one at the Kilgore Cafe. His father, Eugene Mills, is ill and he wanted to visit some time there. Missing the stage raised the question of how to reach his destination. We know he will reach Ryefield Bridge, Otisfield, his paternal home in due time.

Mrs. Amy Marie Tracy of Norway, Mrs. Grace Dean Robinson and Mrs. Stella Burnham of So. Paris gave a concert in Oxford, Thursday evening, it being ladies' night of the Knights of Pythias lodge.

Dwight Kilgore has gone to Rangeley for a summer job at the Moosehamagantic House.

Dennis Pike and Philip Prince, while riding in an auto on the cement road some three miles below Norway village, Tuesday afternoon, saw a she-bear and cub cross the highway, a short distance ahead. In company with occupants of another car, they followed the trail, which led through the woods toward Allen Hill. They secured glimpses of the retreating animals, but nothing more.

Tent caterpillar nests are appearing on wild cherry bushes and the early flowers of spring are here. Warmer weather must be on the way.

Mrs. Kate Bradbury returned, Monday to her work at Fred S. Brown's store, after an absence of three weeks with the flu.

Candidates for a town baseball team are at the fair grounds nearly every afternoon. Material is showing up good and the prospect is bright for summer sport. A number of business men have an interest in the matter and will encourage the boys in any effort to put something across.

Number plates from other states are showing up on cars along Main Street. New Hampshire and Massachusetts have been coming some weeks, late arrivals are New Jersey, New York and Florida.

A birthday party was given to Mrs. Walter Purington by her daughter, Mrs. Twitchell, it being her 49th anniversary. There were many nice presents. The evening was passed in playing 63. Those present were Mrs. Emma Twitchell, Mrs. Purington and family, Mrs. Abbie Lowell, Nina Goodwin, Cyrus Twitchell and daughter, Arneta. Ice cream and birthday cake were served.

A triple birthday party was given to Mrs. George Merrill and son, Robert, and Benjamin Twitchell, at the home of Mrs. Walter Purington. Three fine cakes, and ice cream, were served. The three guests of honor received many nice gifts. Those present were Mrs. George Merrill and family, Mrs. Benj. Twitchell and family, Mrs. Abbie Linnell, Mrs. Nina Goodwin, Mark Pike and Mrs. Purington and family. Cards were played during the evening.

The Norway Woman's Club met at Community Hall, Tuesday afternoon. The committee on the American Youth Award and American Teacher Award of the Sesqui-Centenial International Exposition reported and a selection was made of Miss Gertrude Gardner, teacher of the upper primary school and Miss Hallie McKeen and Clayton White, students of the high school. A piano duet was given by Miss Alberta Hosmer and Miss Dorothy Wiles. The president, Mrs. Nelson, then introduced Mrs. J. S. Sturtevant of Dixfield, chairman of Child Welfare and Mothercraft of the Maine Federation, who gave an interesting talk on "Child Welfare". This was the last meeting for the season. The next meeting will be Oct. 19.

C. D. Waters of Montpelier, Vt., and well known in Norway, has been elected first vice president of the New England Traffic League. This organization is the largest and most effective of its kind in New England.

Special Town Meeting

To F. W. Sanborn, a citizen of the town of Norway, Greeting:

In the name of the State of Maine you are hereby required to notify and warn the legal voters of the town of Norway to assemble at Norway Hall on Saturday, May 29, at two o'clock in the afternoon to act on the following articles, to-wit:

Art. 1. To choose a Moderator to preside at said meeting.

Art. 2. To see if the town will vote to rescind article 46, of the town warrant whereby the town voted at its annual town meeting to grant and raise the sum of $1,000 contingent to the State giving $2,000 to put in a black road from the head of Main Street to the Waterford turn.

Art. 3. To see if the town will vote to grant and raise the sum of $1,000 contingent to the State giving $1,000 to put in a black road from the head of Main Street towards the Waterford turn on the Lake road.

Art. 4. To transact any other business that may legally come before said meeting.

Given under our hands this 19th day of May A. D. 1926.
